BOARD MEMBERS of Miramonte High School Parents Club examine newsletter announcing Back-to-School Night to be held October 3 at 7:45. They are (from the left): Millie Christie, membership chairman, Betty Chilton, president and James Lewis, principal. Parents may "pay as they enter" at the meeting in the school gym or mail/send $2 to the school office.

Wilkinson Requests County To Widen Camino Sobrante

William T. Wilkinson of 440 Camino Sobrante, Orinda, has requested the Public Works Department to provide an adequate shoulder to a section of Camino Sobrante.

Wilkinson said his wife's car rolled down the bank Monday at noon, when she had driven to the edge of the pavement slowly to avoid an approaching car.

The letter of request to Victor Sauer, director of public works, with a copy to Mel Nielsen of the Board of Supervisors, is as follows:

"I am writing to put the county on notice in regard to the dangerous condition of the section of the section of Camino Sobrante just south of the intersection of this road and Dios Dorados in Orinda.

"As you know, this part of Camino Sobrante borders the golf course, traversing the foothills at a slight elevation from the golf course. The particular section to which I am referring was subject to severe slumping in 1955. There was some repair effected at that time; then further damage occurred during the winter of 1956-57. There was some repair made at that time also. The net result is a section of road with no shoulder, no support under the pavement at the edge of the road on the downhill side, and the pavement crumbling away at the edge of the road.

"While there are probably narrower sections of county road in other parts of the county, the 19 foot six inch width at this particular place is about 3 foot narrower than any other part of Camino Sobrante for quite a distance in either direction.

"The danger of the existing condition, particularly to school buses with their considerable width and high center of gravity, was almost tragically demonstrated last Monday noon, when my wife's car rolled over down the bank, through the fence and onto the golf course. She had driven to the edge of the pavement, at five to 10 miles per hour, to avoid a car approaching from the other direction. The edge of the pavement gave way and the car immediately rolled down the steep bank. Luckily, neither my wife nor my four-year-old daughter were killed; however, my wife will require treatment for an extended period of time for the injuries she received.

"An adequate shoulder is imperative along this section of narrow road, and it should be provided immediately."

Mary Lee Eldred Wins Butterfly At Sacramento

Mary Lee Eldred, 8, of Orinda, qualified first in the 8 and under butterfly heats at the first annual state fair open swim meet, with a time of 17.2.

In the finals she tied with a time of 17.5 with Betsy Stoven of Arden Hills, Sacramento, who was awarded first place by the judges' decision.

Mary Lee was awarded the silver medal.

The meet was held Saturday and Sunday with 2200 participants in 80 events at Sacramento. It was sanctioned by the Pacific Association of the AAU and sponsored by the iSerra Swimming and Tennis Club.

Sailor Dies After Rescue from Estuary

George T. Hall Jr., 28, the son of George T. Hall Sr., of Orinda, was pulled unconscious from the Estuary at Alameda last week and died several hours later while being taken to the U.S. Naval Hospital in Oakland.

Hall, a Coast Guardsman, was an engineer first class aboard the Coast Guard Cutter Ewing. He fell into the water between Government Island dock and the ship shortly after midnight Monday night.

Although he was revived by artificial respiration, he suffered a relapse and was sent to the hospital by ambulance when he succumbed.

Youth Held on Theft Charges

A 17-year-old Miramonte High School student has been arrested in connection with the $1000 safe-cracking at the Union Oil Station, 398 Rheem Boulevard, Rheem Center, last Friday.

The sheriff's office reported the Orinda boy was apprehended Wednesday morning after intensive investigation and interrogation by Juvenile Control Officer John Snyder of the detective division.

Juvenile court charges of burglary and grand theft are contemplated against the youth, who is being held in juvenile hall, Snyder said.

According to Detective Lieutenant Walter Trawick, the full total of $1059.22 which was stolen from the service station safe was recovered at the local boy's home.

Trawick said that after the youth's arrest by Snyder, a full confession was obtained by the sheriff's office.

Teachers To Hear Address By Dr. Harkness

Members of the Contra Costa County Unit, California Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, will be addressed October 13, by their state president, Dr. William Harkness of San Francisco State College, at College Park High School, Pleasant Hill.

Invitations have been sent to nearly 150 physical education teachers in junior and senior high schools, principals and others, reports the county association's president, Mrs. Jeanne D. Duerksen, teacher at Las Lomas High School, Walnut Creek.

Dr. Harkness will address at 7 p.m. dinner meeting on recent developments in the fields of health, physical education, and recreation, both locally and statewide. There will also be a tour of the College Park High School building, which opened this fall as Mt. Diablo Unified District's fifth high school plant.

Tickets Selling Fast for Olympic Dinner, CC Says

Tickets for the dinner honoring local U.S. Olympic swimming team stars are going fast, according to Clarence Betz, secretary of the Orinda Chamber of Commerce.

Betz recommended persons interested in attending the dinner obtain their tickets immediately to insure reservations, since the number that can be accommodated is limited.

Sponsored by the Orinda and Lafayette Chambers of Commerce and The Sun, the dinner will honor Carolyn Schuler and George Harrison, both gold medal winners from Orinda, and Donna deVarona, team member from Lafayette.

The event will be held October 18 at 8 p.m. at the Red Mill. Invitations have been mailed to parents of the sports stars and to the U.S. team coach, George Haines.

Debate Coaches Plan Meeting on Moraga Campus

Debate coaches and speech instructors from 10 Northern California colleges and universities will meet at St. Mary's College tomorrow to program Northern California Forensic Association winter tournaments.

Host for the 6 p.m. meeting in De La Salle Hall is St. Mary's Debate and Speech Club.

Approval of the league debate topic for the fall semester is also scheduled. In the past, league topics have usually coincided with the national debate question, which this year concerns Federal socialization of medicine.

Handling arrangements for the conclave, expected to draw 35 delegates, is club advisor Benjamin Frankel, associate professor of history.

Assisting him are club president Sam Romeo, McGill, Nevada; vice president Patrick Boylan, North Hollywood, California, and treasurer George Silvestri, San Rafael.

Sleepy Hollow Parents Holding 'Members' Drive

"Goal to Go" is the theme of the Sleepy Hollow Parents' Club as the membership drive kicks off Monday. A touchdown for every class by next Friday when the drive ends is the goal.

The membership drive and program for the year were planned at the first meeting of the board when it met at the home of this year's president, Mrs. Charles Beckett last week.

In addition to Mrs. Beckett, the executive board includes Harry Clemons, vice-president; Cyles Dunsmoor, treasurer; Mrs. Donald Ellis, recording secretary; and Mrs. Carlton Block, corresponding secretary.

Committee chairmen are Mrs. Thomas Culbertsen, room mothers; Mrs. John Rieser, membership; Mrs. Kenneth Renwick, library; Mrs. William Jaekle, health; Mrs. Albert Rawson, ways and means; Mrs. William Howe, education; George Hall, finance and auditor; Mrs. William Leonard, safety; Paul Gregg, civic affairs; and Mrs. Robertson Williams, public relations.

Mrs. Cynthia Scott, school principal, is faculty advisor and Clarence Woodard, last year's president, is director.

Two Injured Near Red Mill

An Oakland school teacher and a girl exchange student from Kenya were injured in Lafayette last week when their car skidded off the Freeway 24 on-ramp edge of the Red Mill.

The California Highway Patrol said the car and a car driven by an Oakland man sideswiped on the ramp. The teacher's car plunged 50 feet off the ramp and rolled over several times. The other car stopped short of the edge.

The student, Eva Ngaracu, 15, suffered a fractured left leg, and Mrs. Dorothy Lott, 34, of 2315 Gehring Drive, Concord, suffered cuts and bruises. She is a sixth grade teacher, and is Miss Ngaracu's sponsor and temporary guardian. Miss Ngaracu was taken to the county hospital in Martinez for treatment.

Inland Valley Classrooms To Be Completed October 1

The contracting company for the Inland Valley School has been requested to appear before the Orinda Union School District board of trustees October 3.

The board last week determined to write a letter to the company strongly protesting the delay in completion of the school. At that time with only six rooms occupied, trustees learned that the contractor would not give a progress report to Superintendent Joe Sheaff.

THE SCHOOL was due to be completed August 9, and a time extension was granted, advancing the date to August 25. Then an additional 7 1/2 day extension was requested.

In reply to its protesting letter, the contractor informed the district they expect to open Unit 6, the remaining unfinished classrooms, the multi-purpose room completed by November 1.

Trustees then requested the appearance before them October 3.

JAMES Jentges, assistant superintendent for business, has announced that Orinda School will receive the district food services for lunches, beginning Monday, October 3.

The lunch will be the "Class A," type including hot food and the cost will be 30 cents daily for those who wish to buy it.

The food will be prepared at Glorietta School Cafeteria and transported to Orinda School. Pine Grove and Sleepy Hollow schools have had the lunch service since last year.

In addition, Stewart said that although official records are not yet available, preliminary figures indicate that "the community and the high school should be very proud of the record the first graduating class from Miramonte is making at the University."

While parents of upperclass students were hearing Stewart, parents of ninth grade students and those attending Miramonte for the first time listened to James Lewis, principal, Naomi Giddings, dean of girls, and Robert Callan, dean of boys, explain school regulations and answer questions concerning accreditation and bus routes. Earlier the teachers staff, including 17 new teachers, were introduced to the parents.

Hacienda Group to Meet Thursday Eve

There will be a special meeting of the Hacienda Improvement Association Thursday at 8 p.m. at the Orinda School, it was announced today.

Mothers are Pioneers Now Just as in Grandma's Day

By CONNIE PIKE
What we are is, we're pioneers. Intrepidly we meet the challenge of today's wildest frontier—life in the suburbs.

If you're one of those who crossed the country in a covered wagon, you won't want to read this, but to the rest, who know what hardship is, read on.

People are fond of saying that Grandma had it rough, working an 18-hour day with no modern appliances to get her wash really white, her dishes really sanitary.

Still she managed six children with one hand while she stirred the laundry in a steaming cauldron with the other.

GRANDMOTHER lived to be 96 and never had a sick day. We have trouble managing three children with the help of Spock, Cissel and all the neighbors.

The problem is, our children know too much. You may say to your little girl, "Don't play in the mud, you'll get dirty." She is likely to reply, "Every one knows the benefits of squishing mud between your toes."

Grandma would have pulled her from the puddle, given her a firm spank and ordered, "Do as I say!" But we are denied this satisfaction.

FADDLE A CHILD now and he'll probably announce balefully, "You're going to be the cause of a deep emotional problem." You think such a child is unusual? Not at all—just today's bright-average child. Imagine what the bright-bright child would do. Nor did Grandma have to do school work. Having finished say!

with education at an early age in Germany, she never again cracked a book with the exception of her Bible. She stayed at home and sewed calico dresses and pinafores, and let the teachers do their work.

We mothers often find ourselves studying in three grades at once. Sometimes it's cursive writing and simple astronomy. Another time it's Early California and the B-flat clarinet. At still other hours, the subjects are nuclear energy and algebra.

HOMEWORK is further complicated because you can never get a direct answer when you ask how it's going. Suppose you ask, "Have you studied your spelling?" The answer may be, "It's only 7 o'clock."

Or you say, "Have you finished all the writing on your report?" The child answers, "I only have to write 15 pages, and I'm through." When you check up you find he means, "I'm through for today." He has finished the title.

This inability to give a direct answer is often inherited from the father. You ask the father on a pleasant evening, "Can we go out for dinner tonight?"

HE NEVER SAYS Yes, but he doesn't say No, either. Often he says, "Spend, spend, spend. We're going to end up in the poor house."

So let us take heart mothers. Grandma just didn't have our kind of problems. If one of her children failed a subject, she'd say matter-of-factly, "I guess he's one of the dumb ones," and send him out to find a job.

If Grandma had to perform our daily duties, she'd probably pack up her laundry tub and take the next boat back.

Parents Hear UC Official at Orinda

Nearly 600 parents of Miramonte High School students turned out this week to hear Dr. David Stewart of the University of California describe college entrance requirements, and to meet the teaching staff of the school.

Dr. Stewart, assistant director of relations with schools and former dean of boys at Acalanes High School, explained admission requirements for California junior colleges, state colleges and the university. He also spoke of future plans for the university, pointing out that a total enrollment for all campuses of 100,000 is expected by 1970, doubling the present enrollment.

In addition, Stewart said that although official records are not yet available, preliminary figures indicate that "the community and the high school should be very proud of the record the first graduating class from Miramonte is making at the University."

While parents of upperclass students were hearing Stewart, parents of ninth grade students and those attending Miramonte for the first time listened to James Lewis, principal, Naomi Giddings, dean of girls, and Robert Callan, dean of boys, explain school regulations and answer questions concerning accreditation and bus routes. Earlier the teachers staff, including 17 new teachers, were introduced to the parents.

Indian Guides To Hold Pow Wow

The Orinda Nation of the Mt. Diablo YMCA Indian Guide program will hold its first organizational pow wow this Wednesday evening at the Orinda Union School, 26 Orinda Way, according to John Pearson, Orinda nation chief.

The Indian Guide program is designed to foster a better father and son relationship for boys in the first and second grades. Organized into "tribes" of approximately 8 to 10 father and son teams, the Indian Guides meet twice a month at the homes of individual members.

This program, inaugurated only seven years ago, has grown until there are presently 120 different tribes operating in Central Contra Costa County.

Existing Orinda tribes and their "chiefs" are as follows: Apache, Ray Davies; Arapaho, Donald E. Manuel; Cherokee, Dave Wenrich; Cheyenne, Harry Larsen; Comanche, W. B. Bray; Hoopa Russ Usinger; Iroquois, Ned Smith; Kitchawong, Robert Milligan; Miwok, Lee Sorenson; Naug-atuck, Phil Lathrap; Orindian, John Pearson; Tuolumne, Ed Larch; Wailaki, Ralph Kjar and Martin Stiles, and Wapoo, Tom Howard.

Any first or second grade boy who would like to become an Indian Guide is invited to bring his dad to the first pow wow at the Orinda School Wednesday at 7:30.

Republicans To Meet Tuesday

A general membership meeting of the Young Republicans of the Orinda - Moraga area will be held at the Glorietta School auditorium Tuesday at 8 p.m.

Two films will be shown, including "Nixon in Russia" with the famous kitchen debate with Khrushchev and a film on the House UnAmerican activities.

Turn Clock Backwards On Sunday!

Those who must rise early will get a break Sunday morning and for a few days thereafter until the effect of an hour recaptured after midnight Saturday wears off.

Sunday Coast Costans will be on Pacific Standard Time, that is those who remember to turn BACK their clocks. The hour lost in the Spring will be theirs again, with the end of Daylight Savings Time.

Some will goof and lose another hour, others will forget, but those who want to get to church on time should turn back their clocks one hour at midnight Saturday.

Sun Editor Interviews Chiang Kai-shek

By HERMAN SILVERMAN
Taipei, Taiwan (Formosa) — Speaking to 14 West Coast newsmen, President Chiang Kai-shek last week made his first public statement since the arrest of a Chinese publisher and leader of a proposed opposition party.

The president accused Lei Chen, respected publisher of the Free China magazine, of knowing that his accountant was a Communist Chinese agent and giving him cover for some years. Lei and three others were arrested September 4 on charges of sedition. They will be tried in secret military court, despite appeals that they appear before open civil courts.

He accused Lei of "printing articles in Free China magazine, which aided and abetted Communist China." Chiang declared that the Publisher knew since 1953 that his accountant, Liu Tzu-yung, was a communist but knowingly gave him "cover."

SEE UNDER THE SUN COLUMN EDITORIAL PAGE

He then refused to answer more questions about the arrests, stating that "the case is still under investigation." He did not answer charges by officials of the proposed new China Democratic Party that all their documents and papers were seized during the arrests.

This writer tried to re-open this subject later in the interview by pointing out that Free China was being severely criticized in the U.S. and in the countries that the touring newsmen had just visited—Korea, Japan, Philippines and Okinawa.

CHIANG, SITTING next to Madame Chiang, smiled and said, "Every country has its own problems but the arrests were made according to law. For a while there will be some misunderstanding but in due course when all the facts are known, the reaction will not be unfavorable." The President spoke through an interpreter during the interview.

The newsmen, including five from the Bay Area, were greeted individually by the president and Madame Chiang. They had waited over an hour for the correspondents, who in turn had been forced to return to the Philippines by a small electrical fire in the Military Air Transport Service plane.

CHIANG PREDICTED a "serious uprising" in Communist China and the regime will be overthrown "within three years."

"When the uprising occurs, we on Taiwan have the responsibility and obligation to go to their aid to relieve them from Communist tyranny—with all means at our disposal but without involving the United States," the president stated. "We think the uprising is not too difficult because the people are so against the Communists."

"I know you doubt what I am saying but the Communists will be overthrown," the Generalissimo added. The aging Chiang, wearing an undecorated tan uniform, nervously ran his hand over his thin hair. The President and Madame sipped tea and ate sandwiches and pastry that were served the group. Both were patient and congenial, although they looked tired and nervous.

The interview lasted nearly one and a half hours. They had delayed a scheduled trip to meet with the newsmen.

The President appealed to all the free world to help bring about an uprising on the mainland but at best "they should not do anything to hinder anti-Communist movement."

"CERTAIN SECTOR of the American press has contributed to the demoralization of some Chinese people in Asia," Chiang asserted. He cited proposals to exchange reporters with Red China, articles in favor of establishing cultural, diplomatic or trade relations with the Reds.

Later, in off-the-record briefings, the newsmen heard American officials doubt the possibility of an uprising. ("But who thought that Hungary would fight?")

They pointed out that the U.S. and its allies have stopped Communist China's expansion in Asia, citing Korea and the Formosa threat of 1958.

By seeing United States' armed might pushed into the Formosa Straits in 1958, the Communists were thwarted from moving into Quemoy and they know the U.S. meant business. It is essential that the U.S. and its allies draw the line in Asia or else sooner or later face the threat near the Golden Gate. So stated the U.S. diplomatic and military officials.

They pointed out: 1.) there are no U.S. fighting forces on Taiwan; 2.) the Free Chinese fighting men are superb (their pilots are as good or better than ours and "ache to fight"); 3.) it costs 20 times less to support a Chinese soldier than an American GI; 4.) it is essential to hold every bit of free ground from the Communists; 5.) Taiwan and its islands is a piece of China, which makes it harder for the Communist China to operate; 6.) It's essential that we keep the people of Asia convinced that democracy is better than communism.

THE NEWSMEN spent a full day inspecting the elaborate Chinese defenses on Quemoy, 2300 yards from the nearest Communist China island. Chinese generals showed them the vast underground defense system, gun positions, psychological warfare tools, such as loud speakers and gas-filled balloons, and mined beaches surrounding the small island.

There was no Communist shell fire during the visit, which was on an even day. The Reds usually fire only on the odd day.

Olympic Standouts In Parade

Three young people who live in this area and who have won world swimming fame will ride in the Walnut Festival Parade, Sunday afternoon.

They are Carolyn Schuler and George Harrison, both of Orinda, and Donna deVarona of Lafayette.

They will wear their uniforms as members of the 1960 American Olympic team, which piled up a credible record after initial mishaps in Rome.

CAROLYN, 17, won two gold medals and held two world's records, and George won one gold medal. Miss deVarona became 400 meter individual medley world record holder in the Olympic trial heats.

The parade will be led by Grand Marshal Bill Rigney, nationally known baseball figure and resident of Walnut Creek.

Best known as manager of the New York and San Francisco Giants from 1956 to 1960, Rigney has been a Walnut Creek resident since 1947 and active in local youth recreation activities.

WILLIAM Martin and William Smikhal, parade co-chairmen, said Rigney was being recognized for his contributions to youth recreation and America's favorite sport.

The 1960 grand marshal spent 15 years as an active player, and was an outstanding shortstop for the Oakland Oaks and New York Giants. Following his retirement as an active player, Rigney rejoined with the Giants organization as a manager. He guided Minneapolis of the American Association to a pennant in 1955, and led the National League Giants to two third place finishes in his four year tenure as manager.

One Injured

Joseph Hilton Wadsworth, 17, of 106 Poshard Street, was cited for failing to yield the right of way after the car he was driving collided with one driven by Fukuji Tanji of 2515 Larkey Lane.

The collision occurred at Geary Road and Putnam Boulevard. Lorraine Richey of 108 Burn Court was injured slightly. She was a passenger in Wadsworth's car.

The always interesting Festival parade will begin promptly at 1 p.m. Sunday, proceeding from the Lucky Market in the Broadway Plaza, north on Main Street, east on Civic Drive, south on Broadway.

Nearly a hundred floats, marching and novelty units and horse groups are expected to participate.

SCOTSMEN of Walnut Creek; Las Lomas High School Band; Miss Contra Costa; Walnut Creek Sportsmen Club; Pleasant Hill Cycling Club; Walnut Creek Venture Club; Ladies Oriental Shrine of North America; Mt. Diablo High School Band.

Redmen Drum Corps; Job's Daughters - Bethel 238, Walnut Creek; Boy's Club of San Mateo; Cameron Highland Pipe Band; Alameda County Fair Association; Bertha Watchers; Castroville Drum and Bell Corps, etc.

FESTIVAL profits traditionally have been used to build community facilities for youth recreation.

The Recreation Center in the City Park was constructed entirely from Walnut Festival funds.

Runners will start at North Broadway and Civic Drive, to Ygnacio, to Walnut Boulevard, to Sierra, to Walker, to Mt. Diablo

Ladies React Variously Before .45 Automatic

"Oh, but we're going to the show," protested Joan Hansen of 1406 Blackhawk Court, Lafayette, as her husband, Robert, handed $10 over to a gunman, last Saturday night.

The gunman, flourishing a .45 automatic, said, "Okay, keep your money and go to the show."

Scene was Sees Candy Store, 1290 South Broadway, Walnut Creek, where three other victims of the two robbers were already confined in the rear of the store.

THE REACTION of candy store employee Leota Ellison had been different.

Faced with the large automatic pistol and the determined face of the robber, she said, resignedly, "Oh, heck!"

To which the robber replied, "Take it easy, lady, and everything will be all right."

Lorraine Reuten, another candy store employee, tried another tactic.

SHE ASKED the robber, "You wouldn't hurt me, would you?"

To which he said, "No lady, I wouldn't hurt you."

Not to be outdone by the ladies, William Mark Hull of 1137 Saranap Boulevard, Walnut Creek, had his own solution when relieved of his wallet after walking into the store.

The bandit was walking away with the wallet when Hull remembered that all his money was in a money clip, not in his wallet — and he wanted the wallet back.

SO HE proposed a swap — the wallet for the money. And the bandit was happy to comply.

The two bandits were later seen walking quickly away from the store, and one bandit was flourishing the $40 or $50 taken, and proudly showing it to his pal.

Footnote: Bandit No. 1 was 30 to 32 years old, 155 pounds, dark complexioned, pock marked, watering eyes, but calm demeanored.

Bandit No. 2 was 25 to 30, medium complexioned, stocky, about five feet five.

Trustees Oppose School Boundary Realignment

Financially plagued Mt. Diablo Unified School District's board of trustees said Tuesday they would oppose the proposed transfer of two square miles in Reliez Valley to the Acalanes High School District.

The district would lose $100,000 in assessed valuation by the realignment of the boundaries, according to Superintendent James W. Dent.

DENT said that under state law property owners in the transferred area would no longer be responsible for present debts in the Mt. Diablo District.

Known as the Haveside property, the area in question is situated on the west side of Reliez Valley Road. Parents of 10 students in the area are seeking the transfer because their children live closer to Acalanes High School in Lafayette.

The board agreed to offer $55,000 to the Gospel Foundation for 10 acres of land for an elementary school site on Oak Grove Road near Treat Lane in Ygnacio Valley. The figure was reached through appraisals ordered by the district.

Plans were dropped for the purchase of an elementary school site on Treat Lane near Madigan subdivision because of the reluctance of land owners to sell and because of flood control problems.

Confusion Runs Rampant As Questions, Insults Fly

By JEAN JERNIGAN

Termed a "childish prank" by the mayor of one city and the move of "irresponsible leaders" by the mayor of another, the move of 38 citizens of Pleasant Hill to incorporate a vast area has jolted the general population out of its apathetic attitude toward civic affairs and sent more than one attorney scurrying to his law books.

Notice of intent to file for incorporation of Pleasant Hill, including the vast area of parts of Briones Park, Avon, Clayton and Ygnacio Valley to the top of Mt. Diablo, was presented to the Contra Costa Board of Supervisors on Tuesday by John Scaglione, Scaglione, whose name was not listed among the 38 signatures of the notice, appeared in the absence of Ben Hartinger, local attorney, who spearheaded the movement.

HARTINGER, interviewed by The Sun after news of the incorporation move created a storm of criticism, questions as to the legality of the move and its effect on annexation of Fair Oaks to Concord, had this to say:

"Concord is willing to take part of Pleasant Hill. This destroys the status quo, and if accomplished would forever destroy the possibility of incorporation."

Unify Schools Committeemen Seeking $9000

The County Board of Supervisors has referred to Administrator J. P. McBrien a request that the county spend $9000 for a study of the unification of elementary school districts with the Acalanes Union High School District.

The request was made by William B. Freeman, chairman of a subcommittee of the Contra Costa Committee on School District Organization, also a former member of the Acalanes School Board.

His letter suggested that the Schoolhouse Planning Laboratory of Stanford University conduct the study and make recommendations.

State law prohibits schools from spending money for this type of research, so the committee is seeking aid.

Freeman's group includes members of the school boards in all six districts in the Acalanes area, including Walnut Creek, Lafayette, Moraga, Orinda and Canyon.

It's Festival Time! Festival Has Arrived! Not a Moment to Spare!

The 1960 Walnut Festival — Spanish in theme but American in size and scope — is awaiting your inspection now at the Walnut Creek city park.

Check the program in this edition of The Sun — it will indicate what your 25 cent single admission or 50 cent "season" ticket will lead to!

HEADING the list of features will be a free outdoor ice show with 150 amateur and professional performers headed by Neil Rose and Lloyd "Skippy" Baxter, former professional headliners with Sonja Henie and the Ice Follies.

A hobby show, featuring the famed Wells Fargo gun show, a display of counterfeit money, stamp and gem collections, will be free to Festival visitors tomorrow and Sunday from 12 noon to 10 p.m.

The largest collection of major carnival thrill rides ever brought to the Walnut Festival is now being set up by West Coast Shows, which staged the carnival at the California State Fair and recently completed a week at the Santa Clara County Fair at San Jose.

Hundreds of local businessmen and women will turn "carnie" for the weekend as they hawk the wares of their various food and game booths operated by local civic and service groups to raise money for their favorite charities.

TWENTY-SEVEN such organizations will be represented on the midway.

Coronation of the Queen of the Walnut Festival will be tonight at 9 in the Recreation building.

The results of the contest were determined by judges at a fashion show held last night, but the Queen will not be revealed until tonight.

A 160-foot long big top will house a variety of commercial exhibits, which will be accentuated by attractive garden displays installed under the direction of Sherman Welden and the organ music of radio personality Floyd Wright.

THE 16TH annual Walnut Festival marathon will be held at 9:30 a.m. Sunday under the chairmanship of Andy MacCono.

Runners will start at North Broadway and Civic Drive, to Ygnacio, to Walnut Boulevard, to Sierra, to Walker, to Mt. Diablo

Festival Art Show Promises 'Action' Events

One of the special features at the Diablo Art Association Walnut Festival Art Show will be an Oriental garden scene created by landscape architect Arthur Odibert of Lafayette.

His landscape designs have been entered in the California State Fair and in the Oakland Garden Show. He has also designed several Contra Costa gardens.

The Art Show garden display will be for sale at the end of the exhibit.

ART-IN-ACTION will also be a featured part of the Art Association Show, which will be held in the Walnut Creek Armory, 1800 Carmel Road.

In action during each of the three days will be well-known portrait artist Katy Madsen doing quick sketch portraits, and Betty Perona of Danville creating jewelry from hand polished stones.

Otto Schuchard, Orinda, will sketch local scenes in pen-and-ink on Friday and Des Neige Brown of Danville will show mosaic technique on Saturday.

On Sunday Norma Martinetti of Pittsburg will demonstrate the art of sand-casting which has become so popular in garden decorations.

SENOR! SENOR! You didn't know that the wonderful Walnut Festival is here? Senor, how could you be so FOOLISH? You like our costumes? Of course! They follow the Spanish theme! Be a smart gringo! Find out what is happening at the Walnut Festival — NOW! Read the program, printed in this Sun issue. It's in English, in case your "Espanol" is a little rusty!

HOMEBUYING, the wonderful pre-occupation of central county folk, is the main business of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board. It's big business, complicated, but rewarding for all concerned. Charles Bailey, left, will head the board's activities this year. Jack Wolverton, center, is vice president. Retiring president is A. J. (Buck) Johnson, at right.

Road Repair, Improvement Involves Big Financing

The tremendous task of keeping present roads, streets, and highways in Contra Costa County in repair and equal to the growing demands on them was outlined in a Division of Highway report on "California County Road and City Street Deficiencies."

The detailed report generally indicates that millions of dollars will be needed for work on present roads before 1965, and greater sums will be needed by 1980.

It also discusses possible revenue sources and how additional funds could be apportioned among the various jurisdictions.

THE REPORT was submitted to the State Senate Fact Finding Committee on Transportation and Public Utilities, and signed by Robert Bradford, state director of public works.

Contra Costa County, not including its cities, will need some $86,063,000 for repairing and improving existing arterials, collector streets, primary roads and secondary collector roads, by the year 1965.

The cities for the same work will need some $21,089,000.

County roads alone by 1980 will require almost $273 millions in such work.

THE ANALYSIS of city problems indicates Walnut Creek right now needs some $497,000 worth of work done, and to this would be added another $454,000 by the time 1965 rolled around.

This is a total of almost $1 million for Walnut Creek alone in the next five years.

However, Concord seems to have even greater demand, with some $3,660,000 in projects indicated by 1965.

Walnut Creek's requirements by 1980 will have increased to more than $4 millions, but Concord will be some $12 million.

SAYS THE REPORT: "From the tables . . . it is readily apparent that the present level of revenue now accruing to the cities and counties for street and highway improvement purposes is inadequate to properly finance the present estimated deficiencies . . ."

"It is apparent that additional funds from some source are necessary to correct these deficiencies throughout the state, and such funds must be provided at an early date if California's highway transportation system is to keep pace with the rapid growth now being experienced."

The report continued, ". . . It is recommended that the appropriate legislative interim committee give consideration to the recognized county road and city street needs as established herein, and to the provision of additional revenue to augment the funds now available in order to accelerate the correction of the county and city deficiencies . . ."

... a RECOMMENDATION on the precise details of a financing program, as, for example, the imposition of a one-cent increase in the gasoline tax . . . would be premature until legislative interim committees and the public have had opportunity to review this engineering needs study . . .

It is recommended that the appropriate legislative interim committees give consideration to formulas which will channel any additional funds that may be provided toward the correction of acknowledged county and city deficiencies in proportion to needs based on estimates to 1965 — and treat each county and its incorporated cities as a unit for initial apportionment with subsequent reapportionment between each county and its incorporated cities."

The report added, "It is recommended that the appropriate legislative interim committees give consideration to the requirement that future city and county deficiency reports be prepared for legislative review at four year intervals beginning with the year 1965 . . ."

New Course Will Look At Modern Painting

A new adult discussion group in "Looking at Modern Painting" will be organized in Lafayette on October 4 by University of California Extension.

The group will meet from 8 to 10 p.m. in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Barnett, 3343 St. Mary's Road.

Squire Knowles, graphic arts designer and a member of the faculty of the California School of Fine Arts, San Francisco, will be discussion leader.

THE FEE for ten discussion sessions and a set of reading materials is $14 for an individual or $20 for a married couple.

Participants will examine the paintings of Cubists, Abstractists, Expressionists, Surrealists and other modern schools and discuss and evaluate their reactions.

The views of critics, art authorities and the artists themselves will be explored, but the primary purpose of the program is to help individuals define their own attitudes and reactions to modern painting.

Discussion will be based on colored slides and a book of color plates, black-and-white drawings and specially prepared commentary.

SOME QUESTIONS for discussion are as follows: What does modern painting mean to you?

What do you think are the aims of modern painting?

How do you think it has affected your tastes?

DOES THE painter have a special responsibility to his society? Can the unconscious be communicated through painting?

The discussion group is presented here in cooperation with the Valley Art Center.

Scout Council Hears Plans From Chairmen

Mt. Diablo Boy Scout Council held its first executive board meeting of the fall season at 140 Brookwood Road, Orinda, September 14.

Duncan H. Knudsen of 3825 Happy Valley Road, Lafayette, council president, said reports of planned activities were presented by the chairmen of the eight operating committees.

Included in the plans are participation of all Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts and Explorers in the "Get-Out-the-Vote" campaign, in cooperation with the Freedoms Foundation.

On October 29 reminders to vote will be placed in the homes of every family in the council area of Contra Costa County, Berkeley and Albany.

Underwriters Hear About A Fast Start

The Mt. Diablo Branch of the Oakland-East Bay Life Underwriters' Association held its monthly breakfast meeting at the Nut Bowl, Pleasant Hill.

Speaker was Million Dollar Producer John D. Hinton of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, who works in the City of Newark.

Hinton is a very new agent with the Metropolitan, and has reached the production of a million dollars in his first year in the business.

He talked about the organization and techniques used in accomplishing this.

Is Acalanes Board Self-Perpetuating? Supt. Parsons Has Comments

By NORMAN COLBY

The tendency for Acalanes Union High School District trustees to be elected by the people only after they have been appointed by fellow trustees (and have run with the advantage of being the "incumbent") will probably increase in the future, due to the new four-year terms.

This was Superintendent Neil Parsons' comment in an interview concerning what many residents in the district have termed a "self-perpetuating board."

Parsons said the state legislature's increase of school trustee terms from three to four years will make it "all the harder for them to finish out their terms."

PARSONS vigorously defended the position of the trustees, who he explained often serve faithfully for many years and then find that they must move or for some other reason must resign before their terms have expired.

However, his figures indicate that except for the original five board members, the history of the district shows that of the other 11 trustees, nine were first appointed by the County Superintendent of Schools on recommendation of the Acalanes Board.

Only two others won their trustee posts without the distinct advantage of the "incumbent" label.

AMONG the current board members, only Will Hall, board president, ran for election as a newcomer. He succeeded Howard Stanley, who resigned at the end of his term.

Parsons, without the advantage of preparation, could not recall any time in the history of the district when an incumbent candidate did not retain his trustee post if he sought the office in a later election.

One reason why trustees so often quit before their terms are up, thereby reducing the possibility that the voter choice for replacement will be from a clear field of new candidates, is that they move out of the area, Parsons explained.

It would not be practical to delay replacing the trustee when the term has nearly a year or more to run, since the other board members would have greater difficulty mustering a quorum (3 of 5), and the weight of the business would fall more heavily on the others, he continued.

AND THERE are other cases where the trustee who intended to serve out his term simply cannot due to unforeseen events.

Parsons said that in the Acalanes District, when a board vacancy occurs, the trustees deliberate on a replacement, and their recommendation is forwarded by him directly to the County Superintendent of Schools. Parsons himself does not take part in the choice of the new trustee, he explained.

Parsons denied emphatically that any trustee has ever resigned mid-term out of deference to the other board members, and their procedural right to recommend a replacement under those circumstances.

THE SUN in a recent editorial praised the selection of Mrs. Alla Knudsen of Lafayette and Glen Allen of Walnut Creek to replace Mrs. Alice McBride and William Freeman, both long-time trustees who recently resigned with their terms unexpired.

Parsons agreed, and he pointed out that among other qualifications, Mrs. Knudsen was chairman of the Grand Jury Education Committee last year, and her group's report was considered outstanding.

Also, Allen is a high official with Dow Chemical Company, a president-elect of the Las Lomas Parents Club before his board appointment and served on the Las Lomas parents advisory board.

Parsons preferred not to comment directly on the philosophical problem where a trustee who has served well for many years and deserves a rest, chooses to take that rest immediately rather than waiting until the end of his term.

"THEY HAVE good reasons, and it would be foolish to imply anything which would reflect on them," he said.

As a matter of information, he noted that next year the terms of William Lee, Mrs. Knudsen and Allen will expire, and an election will be held.

In 1963, the terms of Ralph Hall and Will Hall will expire, and an election will be held.

Parsons said he also had no knowledge of concerning reports that the Mt. Diablo Unified District board has an even greater problem of mid-term resignations, and the resulting "incumbent" elections.

Valley Art Center Has New Classes

The "back to school" movement this fall offers special opportunities to adults who are interested in studying art through the classes scheduled by the Valley Art Center.

The delicate and fascinating technique of watercolor will be taught by Don Osterloh on Thursday mornings from 9 to 12 in the Orchard Nursery.

The classes will begin on October 6 and run for eight weeks. OSTERLOH, a graduate of the School of Arts and Crafts in Oakland, also studied at the California School of Fine Arts.

His work has been exhibited at the De Young Museum, the Art Museums of San Francisco and Oakland, the National Academy of Design in New York, the Denver Art Museum and the Birmingham Museum of Art in Alabama.

Lyle Lund, who is well known for his sculpture and paintings, will hold classes in oil painting at his home studio, 761 Old Jonas Hill Road, Lafayette.

Lund, a University of California graduate, has studied under Hans Hoffman in New York and has shown his paintings in the San Francisco Museum of Art.

His classes start October 5 and will be held Wednesday mornings for eight weeks.

Both classes will meet at 10 a.m. and will continue for seven weeks.

Go to Church Sunday

Covenant

The Lafayette Covenant Sunday School meets at 9:45 a.m. on Sundays for Bible study for each age group.

At 11 a.m. Pastor William C. Mays will bring a message on "His Will and Mine." At the same time there is a nursery for babies and small children, and beginners and junior church for older children.

THE JUNIOR high school young people meet at 6 p.m. on Sundays with Mr. and Mrs. Dale Wright directing the program.

At 7 p.m. Sunday Dick Ball, Sunday school superintendent, will be in charge of the promotion program. There will be special music by the children and completion awards.

A quarterly congregational business meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. There are important matters to consider, since the church expects to be moving to its new location about November. The new church will be known as the Hillside Covenant Church and is located on Magnolia Way in Walnut Creek.

THE LADIES' Bible Class will be held Tuesday morning beginning with coffee time at 9:45. The class is a study and discussion period which lasts until 11 a.m. A baby sitter will take care of small children.

Prayer meeting and Bible study is held on Wednesday nights at 7:30. Choir practice begins at 8 p.m.

Important events for the men in the near future include a men's fellowship dinner next Friday and the Covenant men's retreat at Mission Springs from October 7-9. Monte Stetzer and Carl Anderson are accepting reservations for these events.

Christian Science

The eternal, harmonious nature of God's creation will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday in the lesson-sermon on the subject of "Reality."

Christian Science churches in this area are located at 22 Orinda Highway, Orinda; 1437 Locust Street, Walnut Creek, and in Concord at the corner of Grant and Park Streets.

Christian Science Society of Pleasant Hill holds its services at Kahrs Avenue and Boyd Road, Pleasant Hill, and Lafayette meets at 3422 Mt. Diablo Boulevard.

Among the Bible passages to be read are these verses from Psalms (111:7,8): "The works of his hands are verily and judgment; all his commandments are sure. They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness."

Readings from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include this (208:20): "Let us learn of the real and eternal, and prepare for the reign of Spirit, the kingdom of heaven — the reign and rule of universal harmony, which cannot be lost nor remain forever unseen."

The Golden Text is from Lamentations (5:19): "Thou, O Lord, remainest for ever; thy throne from generation to generation."

Presbyterian

Reverend William Carl Thomas will deliver the sermon, "The Door That God Cannot Open," relating to the parable of the Pharisee and the tax collector Sunday at the Lafayette-Orinda Presbyterian Church, 49 Crest Road, Lafayette.

Worship services will be held at 8 a.m., with nursery care provided, and at 11:15 a.m. with church school classes through sixth grade, nursery and preschool classes.

From 9 o'clock to 10:45 a.m., the family worship service and study will be held, with all school age children attending the worship service with their families from 9 to 9:50 and study classes for adults. Church school classes for school age children from kindergarten through college age will be held from 10 to 10:45 a.m. Nursery and pre-school classes will have an extended session from 9 to 10:45 a.m.

The junior high Westminster Fellowship and the Westminster Campus Club will hold their fellowship meetings Sunday evening. Contact church office for details.

Department meetings will be held Wednesday at 8 p.m. Women's Bible classes will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m., 4050 Marianne Drive, Lafayette (nursery at the church); on Wednesday, 4030 Los Araribis Road, Lafayette ((no nursery), and Thursday, 624 Burton Drive, Lafayette (nursery—call AT 3-2656 for details).

The Men's Breakfast Club will meet at 6:45 a.m. Friday in the Fireside Room. All men are cordially invited.

Episcopal

St. Anselm's Episcopal Church will start the fall term with all services being held at the new church at 682 Michael Lane, instead of the Chapel in the Valley.

On Sunday, September 25, Holy Communion will be held at 8 a.m. at Canterbury Chapel, followed by morning prayer and sermon at the new church, with the Reverend Clarence H. Stacy preaching.

At 7 p.m. there will be a Holy Communion for all parishioners, parents and junior high and senior high school members at the new church on Michael Lane.

Nursery care will be provided at the 10 a.m. service at the parish hall. Coffee hour following the service will be held in the parish hall.

On Wednesday Holy Communion will be held at 10 a.m. at Canterbury Chapel.

Events of the week include an Acolyte's meeting tomorrow in Canterbury Chapel. This is for former and regular Acolytes and all those boys from 10 to 17 years of age desiring to become Acolytes at St. Anselm's. Ted Fore, Seminarian, is in charge of this instruction meeting.

On Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. there will be a Canvassers meeting at the Parish Hall. Thursday Choir Practice will start at the home of Joan Harter, 673 Jennie Court.

Friday and Saturday, from 7 a.m. until 3 p.m. there will be a special convention for mission workers at Trinity Church in San Jose. Rev. Stacy is in charge of Registration.

Church school will start at the new St. Anselm's church on Sunday, October 9 at 9:15 a.m. Church school registration may be made at the church on Sunday, or mailed to 682 Michael Lane.

Baptist

"The Catalysis" will be the sermon topic of the Reverend Alan D. Southwell at the 11 a.m. worship service of the Moraga Hills Community Baptist Church which will be meeting for the last time in the Moraga School, School Street, Moraga.

The following Sunday, October 2, will see the first service in the new building located three-fourths of a mile northeast of Rheem Center. Moving day, October 1, will be a thrilling event in the church as everyone lends a hand in preparing the classrooms and chapel for church school and worship.

Church school classes are held at 9:45 a.m. for all ages. This is promotion Sunday when all children will be promoted to their new classes in a special service beginning at 10:25 a.m. Nursery care is provided for children under three during the church school and worship.

The Baptist Youth Fellowship for junior high youth will meet at the Moraga School at 6:45 p.m. under the guidance of George Nye, a second year student at the Berkeley Baptist Divinity School. George is the youth director for the church.

This Sunday at 6 p.m. members and friends will gather for a "potluck supper" at the Moraga School, Lowry and Ruth Mallory, members of the church, will show their slides of Bergen, Norway, and give their impressions of church life in Norway. They lived the past year in Bergen while Lowry, who was an exchange teacher, taught in the high school. Call AT 4-7597 for reservations.

This church is affiliated with the American Baptist Convention.

Methodist

"From Vision to Labor" will be the sermon topic of the Reverend George E. Berry of the Lafayette Community Methodist Church, 955 Moraga Road, at both worship services 9:30 and 11 a.m. Sunday. Nursery care is provided at both services.

Thursday evening at 7:30 p.m. the choir will rehearse. Interested people are invited to join the choir.

Suburban Bible

Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock worship service of the Suburban Bible Church Reverend Gray Lambert will speak on the subject "A Race To Run". At the same hour the young people of the Suburban Youth Fellowship will take part in the special Youth Sunday Service.

As a part of the service the young people of the group will share some of their summer experiences with the church family and also share with the group what Christ means to them as young people.

The public is invited to take part in the service and a nursery will be provided.

At 10 o'clock hour graded Bible will be available for all ages from pre-school age through adult.

At 11 o'clock there will be an extended church school for the children from the ages of pre-school through sixth grade along with the regular morning worship service. David Flagg will be the special soloist at the morning service.

Other activities scheduled for the week include a Ladies Bible class which meets on Tuesdays and a midweek service for prayer and Bible study which meets on Wednesday nights. All of the services are open to the public.

On Sunday afternoon the Suburban Youth Fellowship will meet at 3:30 for fellowship and Bible study and all high school age young people are invited.

Christian

The Reverend Darwin A. Mann will continue his series of sermons on Great Ideas of the Bible at the Lafayette Christian Church, 3419 Golden Gate Way. His topic for this Sunday is "Words Can't Describe."

The worship service is at 10 a.m., church school classes for all ages at 9 a.m., with nursery care provided during both hours. During the service this Sunday, church school teachers will be accorded special recognition.

The Christian Youth Fellowship will attend the fall rally of the East Bay CYF in Oakland, beginning at 3 p.m. Sunday.

Weekly Bible study groups will resume the first week in October. There will be an evening group, conducted by the Reverend Darwin Mann, and a morning group, conducted by Mrs. Mann.

Choir rehearsal will be held at 7 p.m. Thursday at the church, under the leadership of George Shoptaugh. New singers are welcome.

Lutheran

Services will be held at 8 and 11 a.m. this Sunday at Shepherd of the Valley Lutheran Church, 433 Moraga Way, Orinda, with Pastor Albert S. Hidy preaching. His sermon title is "Christians Plus."

Christian Science Lecture Monday

The joy and power of spiritual understanding demonstrated will be the topic of a free public lecture on Christian Science to be given in Berkeley Monday evening by Charles Louis Reilly of Los Angeles.

A moderator of a number of television programs in the series "How Christian Science Heals," Reilly is currently on nationwide tour as a member of the Christian Science board of lecturership.

He will speak under the auspices of First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Berkeley, in the church edifice at 8 p.m. His subject will be "Christian Science: The Continuing Fulfillment of Prophecy."

A native of St. Paul, Minnesota, Reilly gave up a musical career as a concert pianist in 1940 to devote his full time to the practice of Christian Science healing. He became an authorized Christian Science teacher in 1955. He served for eight years as Christian Science committee on publication for Southern California.

a time of singing and conclude with a special message by Dr. Laurie entitled "Did God Change His Mind?"

Rev. Bruce H. Parker, Pastor, reports that the meetings will be continuing during the rest of this week and finish up with Sunday evening, October 2. Dick Goodwin and his golden tenor voice will be heard during the coming week.

Tomorrow night at 7:30 there will be a special youth rally at the church auditorium featuring Dick Goodwin.

Dr. Laurie studied to become a medical doctor but he felt a definite call to ministry which has been attended by a Bible teaching emphasis. He holds his Ph.D. from Glasgow University and is a Fellow of the Philosophical Society of England.

Anyone is invited to attend any of the services which will be held during the coming week at 7:30 p.m. in the church at 4506 El Nido Ranch Road.

Will Speak on New Movement

With an invitation out to all church people in the East Bay, Reverend Cecil G. Osborne, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Burlingame, will speak on the Yokefellow Movement Thursday at 8 p.m. at St. Stephen's Episcopal Church on Via Las Cruces and St. Stephen's Way in Orinda.

Inter-denominational in scope, the Yokefellow Movement is chiefly concerned with the formation of groups dedicated to prayer, Bible study and spiritual discipline.

St. Mary's Has Display of New Graphic Arts

An exhibit of original graphic art by modern masters is currently on display in the St. Mary's College Committee on Lectures, Art and Music.

Artists represented include Cezanne, Degas, Dufy, Lautrec, Matisse, Manet, Picasso, Utrillo, Vlaminck, Zao-Wou-Ki, many others.

The original lithographs, woodcuts, aquatints, etchings, engraving and linoleum cuts are available for purchase.

The exhibit will continue through October 3 and is open to the public during regular library hours, 8 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays; 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Fridays; 9 a.m. to noon Saturdays; and 10:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and 7 to 10 p.m. on Sundays.

St. Mary's Will Have First Dance Tomorrow Night

"Hawaiian Holiday" is the theme for the first St. Mary's College student body dance to be held on campus tomorrow.

The mixer is expected to draw some 800 co-eds from Bay area women's colleges.

Music will be furnished by Walt Nobriga and his orchestra. Nobriga has appeared at the Sheraton Palace and Lake Merritt Hotels.

Palm leaves for decorations have been donated by the City of San Francisco.

General chairman for the affair is junior accounting major Jerry Moorman of San Francisco.

In charge of decorations is Ron Barbeieri, San Francisco, student body social chairman; refreshments, Don Verhees, Alameda; invitations, John Henning, San Francisco, and publicity, Greg Middlebrook, Long Beach. All are junior classmates.

Scouts Invited To Name District

A contest for the naming of the new divided district of the Mt. Diablo Council, Boy Scouts of America, was announced this week by Joe Conley of Orinda, chairman of the district's naming committee.

Deadline for the contest, which is open to all boys in any Scout organization in the Moraga, Lafayette or Orinda school district areas, will be October 1, Conley said.

Mattress Comedy Opens Wednesday

"Once Upon a Mattress," the bright and funny musical comedy S. Hurok is presenting at the Geary Theatre, San Francisco, opening Wednesday evening, opens as a true fairy-tale should, with a handsome minstrel singing "Many Moons Ago in a Far Off Place . . ." while a ballet enacts the old Anderson story of "The Princess and the Pea."

As any child can tell you, Anderson's story told of a princess so delicate she was unable to sleep on 20 downy mattresses because one little pea under them disturbed her royal slumber. This is the basis for the musical romp, "Once Upon a Mattress."

All the characters are there, but the story is just a little different, and the result is an hilarious and delightful comedy with Dody Goodman, the zany comedienne of TV fame, as the princess. Buster Keaton, beloved comedian of hundreds of films, is the king who helps his son, played by Cy Young, well-known night club comic and singer, win the hand of the princess and prove she is indeed delicate and royal, against the plotting of the queen played by Fritzi Burr.

Dancing star Harold Lang of Broadway's "Kiss Me Kate" and "Pal Joey" appears as the jester who is a real dancing fool.

"Once Upon a Mattress" will present performances at the Geary Theatre every evening at 8:30 except Sunday, through October 22nd, with matinees at 2:30 on Wednesday and Saturday.

Tickets for all performances are now on sale at the Geary box office and mail orders are promptly filled.

Home Builders Hold Meeting

Joseph L. Eichler of Eichler Homes Inc., Palo Alto; Robert McLain of Volk-McLain Communities Inc., Danville; and Harold W. Realtor to Speak on Minorities

A. J. (Buck) Johnson, retiring president of the Contra Costa Real Estate Board, will be one of the panelists, Wednesday night, during a public meeting called by the Fair Play Council.

Purpose of the meeting, according to Mrs. Orville Hill, executive director, is to discuss "Racial Discrimination in Private Housing in Central Contra Costa County."

She said this is a "follow up" on the Council's recently released "Community Survey of Minority Housing."

She said the report concludes that discrimination does exist in the communities survey — Walnut Creek, Concord, Lafayette and Pleasant Hill.

Speakers will include Johnson, Rev. Philip J. Dauntion, rector of St. Michael's and All Angels' Episcopal Church in Concord and executive director of the Central Contra Costa County Council of Churches, Gib Gray, survey director of Fair Play Council.

Al Fuller, contractor; Dr. Carl Rouse of Danville, theoretical physicist at Livermore; also a representative from the Walnut Creek Chamber of Commerce.

Persons interested in a copy of the survey may call Mrs. Hill, Lafayette or Robert Love of Lafayette, public relations director.

Shriners' Event

The Contra Costa Shrine Club held its first social event of the last season, with steak dinner, last Friday at the Marsh Creek Lodge.

Classes begin at 7 p.m.

Rheumatic Fever Is Risk For Pupils

Children of school age are the particular targets of rheumatic fever, according to the Contra Costa County Heart Association, which is offering free literature on this subject to parents.

According to Heart Association figures, rheumatic fever causes more long-time crippling illness in children than any other disease.

Also, rheumatic fever is a "repeater". It is different from many childhood diseases in that it can be contracted more than once. With each attack there is a new chance that the heart will be injured.

Brought out in a leaflet entitled, "Now You Can Protect Your Child Against Rheumatic Fever", is the fact that certain kinds of strep infections, such as strep sore throat, some ear infections, and scarlet fever, may open the door to rheumatic fever.

Democrats $ Being Collected

Inauguration of the national Dollars for Democrats campaign this week has sent the members of the Lafayette Democratic Club on a house to house, precinct by precinct drive to solicit a political contribution from every registered Democrat in Lafayette.

In this election year, with high interest in local and national campaign, it is anticipated by Elizabeth Alpin, Lafayette Dollars for Democrats chairman, that every Democratic partisan in the area will be personally contacted either by doorbell ringing or telephone solicitor.

Mrs. Alpin suggests, however, that many interested voters may wish to contribute in advance of any solicitation. All dollars or checks payable to Dollars for Democrats sent to Mrs. Alpin at 3560 O'Connor Drive, Lafayette, will be acknowledged by return mailing of an official Dollars for Democrats receipt.

Dick Ford Dance Classes To Open

Dick Ford dance and tumbling classes will begin their fall semester at Lafayette Nursery School next Friday, Mrs. Milton Walker announced today.

Under the direction of television personality Dick Ford, whose show "Hop, Skip, and Dance" is viewed weekly on KQED, the classes will be taught by Clay Bernard. Pre-schoolers may enroll in the creative dance class which utilizes the methods featured on the television program.

Kindergarten, first and second graders are eligible for a combined class in modern dance and classical ballet. An additional class in advanced ballet will be formed if sufficient interest is shown.

Manfred Weiler In Tank Tests

Army Specialist Four Manfred Weiler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Johann Weiler, 1244 Bonita Lane, Walnut Creek recently participated with other members of the 8th Infantry Division's 68th Armor in tank crew proficiency tests in Grafenwohr, Germany.

During the tests, tank crews were tested in their ability to maneuver over a realistic battle field, locate designated targets, and perform a firing mission.

A mechanic in the armor's Company D in Baumholder, Specialist Weiler entered the Army in June 1958, completed basic training at Fort Ord.

Schools 'Bond Committee' To Tackle Amount, Its Uses and New Campaign

A "bond committee," the nucleus of a future "Educational Facilities Committee," will have until October 17 to consider three important matters for the Walnut Creek School District.

Its members, who will be designated within two weeks, will be asked to consider the amount of money which should be included in the April 18 bond issue election, also the schedule for its expenditure and the nature of the campaign to win the election.

The district trustees hope to have their recommendations in about $6 per year to each district householder.

Superintendent Richard Fickel said later that if the committee came up with a figure near that amount, it would provide a one-year program only, and the committee might be mainly concerned with the priority of classroom construction among the district's schools.

THE TRUSTEES during the meeting briefly referred to the Stanford University Survey Phase No. 1, which called for six classrooms for Indian Valley School, five for Walnut Creek, four for Murwood and one for Walnut Heights.

It also includes purchase of an additional school in the southern portion of the district.

FASHIONS

FALL OF 1960

GRODINS, Walnut Creek, is the home of this Rough Rider sport coat and worsted flannel slack outfit, done in the continental manner. Model is Wesley Silveira.

THE IDEAL DRESS for late afternoon and evening wear is this Johnny Herbert original from Goldman's, Walnut Creek. It's a black wool jersey sheath with black taffeta to nip in the waistline for true feminine appeal. It has a scoop neck and long fitted sleeves for the slim line. Model Diane Vaplon of Constant Charm Studios is also wearing a deep black velvet cloche with soft ripple brim for flattery and is carrying a black velvet bag from Goldman's Boutique department.

The look of fall comes about, not through fashion revolutions, but through very smart strategy indeed! Silhouettes are easy, lines long and fluid ... enhanced by inspiring colors, elegant fabrics. Fur and the fur look pamper and flatter. Costumes carry out the air of perfect grooming ... accessories glorify all. We proudly present the very pick of the crop, for your selection ... now!

THERE'S CAUSE for excitement! Margie Ecoffey, left, is wearing a four piece checked suit by Bobbie Brooks. Maureen Mayberry, center, is showing a pre-teen English import reversible plaid skirt and a blazer jacket, while Carolyn Burch is modeling a dyed to match cashmere sweater and slim skirt. All outfits may be seen at Ogdens. Models are from Constant Charm Studio.

MISS SABRA WORSWICK finds this Italian Classic in a white bulky sweater with a plaid pleated skirt the perfect outfit for campus wear. It comes in the new China Tea Autumn shade and can be found at Fiesta Fashions in Lafayette.

AILEEN RUSS is modeling a Lilli Ann suit of textured taupe material with a ranch mink removable collar. The suit has a slightly fitted hip length jacket with a slim tapered skirt. This is one example from a collection of many luxurious and practical suits from Joseph Magnin.

THIS YEAR it is a fashion story in knits. The soft look in new knit separates by Darlene is worn by Jo Ann Griffin, and comes from the Sportswear Department at Capwell's, Walnut Creek. Both the sweater and skirt are 62 per cent French Angora and 38 per cent wool. It comes in gold, dahlia, purple and black.

Look Your Best This Fall With These Lovely Fashions

THIS VERSATILE combination suit—able by Tami can be worn for business, street wear and partying. Showing its versatility with jacket on and off is Sharon Brohman. It can be found at Sandra Joy Casuals, Broadway, Walnut Creek.

Brides to Greater Formality

Greater formality is the trend in fashions for autumn's brides.

Cathedral trains, princess silhouettes with elaborate detailing of lace and embroidery, distinguished Elizabethan era and Victorian styling glorify wedding gowns.

Although traditionally classic lines prevail, modern touches suggest a new-in-fashion look.

LONG TORSO shaping is evident in gowns with lace bodices dipping low in front and back. From the lowered line of the bodice, a magnificent fullness of gathered taffeta or silk swoops down into a regal train.

Square-shaped trains, blending into tunic fronts of princess dresses, give a courtly appearance.

Fabrics used include tissue wools, brocades, peau de soie, silk satin, taffeta, lace and velvet.

White, off-white and ivory hold their traditional place with subtle color introduced occasionally.

READY FOR winter is Miss Sandy Barr in this McKem acrilan pile car coat, with hood. It's machine washable and comes in sage and brass. It's indispensable to the wardrobe of young ladies, and comes in sizes 7 through 14 and pre-teen at Shoo-Time Shopping in Lafayette.

HAND IN HAND with fashion are fashionable figures along with proper poise and carriage. The Niblack Contouring Salon in Walnut Creek and Concord proudly announces its association with the Constant Charm Studio — the first such alliance in the history of this area. Standing are Mrs. Eve Mayberry, left, and Mrs. Lex Townsend of Constant Charm Studio and reclining is Mrs. Ethel Pattee of Niblack's.

Goldman's

It's Fall Fashion Time

It's news in the fashion field, or mink trim on the hemline, and it's news in maternity wear—making for fluid movement. Necklines are primarily bateau and all occasions and in every conceivable fabric.

Along with the tunic look comes the pouffed bubble silhouette in a harem hemline at the hip, again effects predominating.

This year's fall and winter mother-to-be can look forward to materials in hard-wear, easy-care synthetics—perfect for the working wife—as well as in the luxurious fabrics that her non-expectant friends will be sporting.

Chiffon, lace, point d'esprit, comes in a variety of fabrics, and floral brocades are all seen prominent among them, corduroy in evening wear, many with fox and oxford cloth.

Whether the expectant mother goes to a football game or a formal party this fall, she can be secure in the knowledge that her clothes are in line with the fashion news.

Long—But Easy!

Long but easy is the line to fashion—as seen in the many tunic and long-torso styles.

These Are Notable

Soft ties for collars and trims and fluid tie-belts for lowered waistlines are notable.

Sport Jackets Are Changing

Major transition in casual clothing has been the change in the styling of sports jackets.

Many in the past, in quiet fabrics and conventional cut, looked too much like suit coats.

Today's models have much more of the sports "look"—with bolder patterns in plaids, checks and herringbones; and in tailoring details like slash or oversize

Tights Still Here

tinuing strongly, with knee socks ready to underpin knickers and culottes.

THIS CAPRI 2-piece set modeled by Diane Vaplon of Constant Charm Studios is guaranteed washable, crease resistant, pre-shrunk and takes a minimum, or no ironing at all! It is a CHM fabric with lined pants, too, and it's 100 per cent cotton. See it at Mode-O-Day,

Proper Hat For Sports? It's Coming

For many years, there wasn't lighter weights and more flattering models. And these are just sports clothing. The authentic imported Tyrolean was available but, of rough velvet and with overly-casual shape, it did not achieve maximum acceptance.

It did have an influence, however, and the stores now have innumerable variations of it, in jumpers or pants.

Jumpers Cropped

Jumpers play their part on the sportswear scene. Some are cropped for a tunic look over skirts or pants.

Fashions favored FOR FALL

Neckwear Has Neat Motif

This Fall, neat motifs are the rule in men's neckwear. Occasionally, this may be a single "spot" of design, in others and Boys' Wear explains this trend by pointing out that with more and larger patterning being used in men's suits, the modest patterning of the ties is a virtual must.

However, because the designers are neater does not mean they are less interesting or less beautiful.

As a matter of fact, these trim treatments have a new and appealing look even when worn with unpatterned suits.

There are underknot ties that confine their designs to the area below the knot or, in some instances, a single section of the tie.

Shaded ombre effects, center panels and, of course, classic stripes and foulards round out the tie picture.

The most popular colors include gold, olive, grape, slate and silvery blue, all more effective because more of the ground shades show under the sparser design work.

THE "NEW" EMPORIUM in Lafayette is showing this two-piece wool jersey ensemble. Modeled by Nikki Ambler from Constant Charm Studio, it features a mouton trimmed jacket over elegant sheath and is taupe, black and logan green.

Fall Hosiery-- Color Watchword!

Color is the watchword for fall hosiery, ranging in spectrum from deep purple to pale bronze, to accent every costume in the wardrobe.

And hosiery gets a further lift from new textures.

Hosiery mills are turning out stockings to blend and complement each ensemble, from glittering lace effects for the most formal occasions to casual textured hose for culottes and tweeds.

Shades for daytime wear are seen in pale lavender, olive green, blackened browns and pale beiges.

For evening wear there are darker shades of the basic colors plus glittering gold and silver.

Blue hints through many shades, while the lighter tones are overcast with grays and blacks to give more subtle effects under new fall fashions.

EUNICE BOWEN is modeling Joyce black calf shoes trimmed with brown calf saddle stitches. Mr. McDonald is showing Miss Bowen the latest styles in fashion footwear. These are available at Kushins, Broadway, Walnut Creek.

PEGGY Urricelqui, left, is wearing a purple corduroy skirt and a blue cotton print blouse. Those are purple clowns on the blouse, too. Melodie Morris is wearing a three-piece suit of washable plaid flannel with a white broadcloth blouse. Both outfits are Ruth originals and are exclusive with Klad-ezee in Contra Costa County.

Blame Soldiers

Did you know that most details of men's clothes had a military origin?

Coat lapels developed when soldiers turned down their stand-up collars for comfort; breast pockets were for bullets; hip pockets for pistols; coats buttoned the way they do so a fighter could reach his sword easier.

Jacket-vents provided a better fit for horsemen; and hat ribbons and bows came from knights' custom of affixing their girls' handkerchiefs to their helmets!

IRV JULIUS of Army-Navy Surplus Mart, Walnut Creek, proudly displays the latest for duck hunters. A real hunting coat with a "drop seat" that converts to a game pocket. The hat matches, too!

Feminine Sportswear -- More Important, Diverse

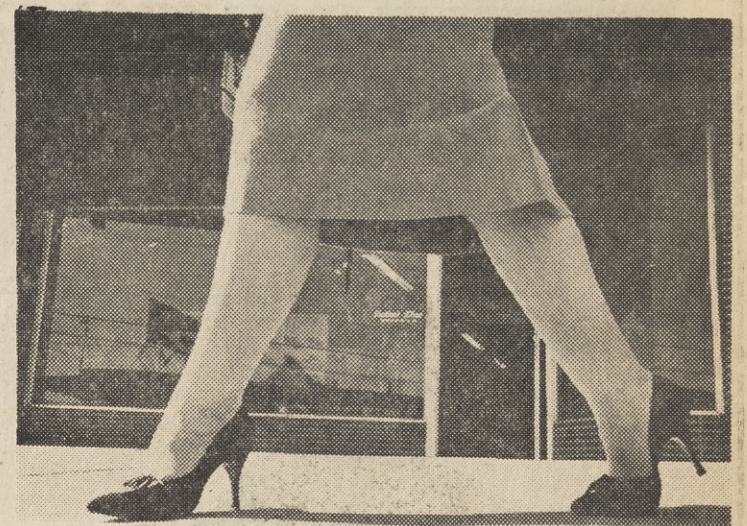

Every season, sportswear becomes more diverse, and occupies a more and more important place in the feminine wardrobe. This fall is no exception. Established favorites — separates, blouses, sweaters, skirts, car coats, pants, knits — cover the whole range of fashion in styles and colors. New entrants appear — culottes and knickers. THE LONG-LINE overblouse makes its influence felt.

There are a variety of lengths, and the wrist-length tunic gains prominence. Supple is the rule, with tie belts for many models. The overblouses top skirts that show more ease and fullness. Pleats, gathers, bias cuts create a pretty, feminine effect. Impact of the overblouse is seen in knitted dresses. There are many two-piece knits which make effective use of the long overblouse or tunic. SWEATERS, too, reflect the overblouse influence with long lines and tie belts. However, the sweater story doesn't stop there. Longer sweaters are new — and so are shorter, cropped sweaters. Bulky, shaggy sweaters; smoothly knitted sweaters with dressmaker details; sweaters with jacquard, paisley, plaid and other patterns; almost-classic sweaters and evening-elegant sweaters share the limelight. In the midst of the movement to more fluidity in styling, pants

A Possible Lesson for All Of Us from Our Own PUC

The State Public Utilities Commission has come up with a good thing. And perhaps we can use the commissioners' deliberations as an example for improvement in other areas.

The commission is considering — and studying thoroughly — possible revisions in the scheduling of Greyhound buses in Contra Costa County, in order to provide better commuter service.

THEY ARE ALSO considering the establishment of additional bus terminals in Orinda, Lafayette, Walnut Creek and Pleasant Hill.

A good solid look at some of our existing facilities, with an eye to improvement, is a good idea, and certainly our commuter service is a good place to start.

It will be a long time before we have any rapid transit facilities, and our commuter load is increasing daily.

But perhaps we can learn from the PUC. How about improving other existing facilities that we now take for granted? How about our schools, our highways

... even the management and operation of the multitudinous special districts which provide our services.

It is always easy to assume that when we need another service, we "go out and get something new." This, of course, is the philosophy of the waste makers.

BUT MANY TIMES an improvement in our existing facility will do the job, at least for a while longer, and at a much cheaper price.

It might just be that we can learn from the PUC, a governmental agency which is showing us how, by example, we can learn to manage some of our affairs better.

Certainly the commuters must be happy with the idea of additional bus facilities and the prospect of faster transportation.

And how about the rest of us? Could we not re-examine some of our facilities which are close to home?

It's certainly worth looking at.

A Money Saver, Maybe?

Do you have a pet special district? Not like a turtle, or a goldfish, but like a kind of hobby. Do you follow the workings of the Gregory Gardens Water District with interest?

Do you belong to a special service district that recently installed curbs and gutters on the street in front of your house?

WHETHER OR NOT this is the case, you are affected by a number of special service districts all taxing you, and all providing some special service which affects you and your family.

Well, the county has come up with an idea that might help some of these districts—perhaps the one to which you belong, or perhaps this idea will help one that you might join some day.

The county will make available to county special districts, cities and independent special districts the services of its engineering department at cost—with a slight charge tacked on for administrative overhead.

This is a pretty good deal. It is fairly expensive for each separate district to hire its own engineering work—especially if it is a small district. For example, a local special improvement district formed to install curbs and gutters.

NOW, YOU SIMPLY go to the county, have them do the engineering work, and it all comes out in the final assessment and bid.

But it is likely to save you money. The offer is there. It might not be a bad idea if all of us who are interested in, or belong to, special service districts would take a look around and see if we can't make use of this offer.

It looks like a money saver.

Big, Bright and Yellow

Those big, bright, yellow buses are all over the place.

And with good reason, because they are carrying hundreds of children to and from school daily.

The safety record for school children and buses in this area is remarkable. This is due, in large part, to the care the districts take of the equipment, and the concern and training of the drivers.

BUT WE ALSO have our responsibilities. Do you know when you can pass a school bus? When should you stop?

Here is a refresher for you that might save a child's life.

When the red lights mounted on the front and rear of the school bus are flashing, you must stop, whether you are overtaking or meeting the school bus.

If the lights are not flashing, you may pass, but you should slow down and exercise caution. This, of course, is only common sense.

If the roadway is divided, you need not stop, even if the lights are flashing, if you are on the other roadway from the school bus.

BUT THERE IS one more thing to remember. Children are small, and they are fast. And they may not always remember the rules.

So play it safe. When you see a bright, yellow school bus. Keep your eyes open, slow down, and be a little more alert than usual.

It is better than a tragedy.

The Staff Corner

I Don't Understand...

By NORMAN COLBY

"I hope they make it. But everything seems to be stacked against them," I thought to myself as two men in their 30's trudged up the steep slope leading away from South Lake, near Kings Canyon National Park.

I had walked half a mile with Dick Osborn and Hank Utter to their "jumping off" point, at the edge of the lake.

And the effort in the 10,000 foot altitude left me breathless.

NEITHER OSBORN nor Utter looked like mountain-conquerors, for that matter, after only about four hours of sleep.

They both hunched forward under their 40-pound packs and inhaled carefully from their cigarettes before throwing butts towards the lake far below.

It wouldn't be so bad after the first couple of days, Osborn commented cheerfully.

In the next five days they would be "packing-in" — climbing and scrambling upwards to an altitude of more than 12,000 feet, where only the lizards and a few maniacs for the outdoor life are seen.

ON THE FIRST day, they would cover only four miles of the 50 miles to Florence Lake, where a car would be waiting.

Later, they would really have to move to make it in time.

I guess the full carton of cigarettes each of them carried bothered me more than anything else.

How were they to find any oxygen up there to mix with the smoke? And 10 packs each! Were they guinea-pigs for some big tobacco firm? If so, they hadn't mentioned it.

AND THEY didn't seem concerned about the fact that during the year their only physical training had been for Osborn an occasional change of his typewriter ribbon and for Utter the vigorous process of tearing off rubber gloves after a successful operation.

The traditional story is that editors usually die at an early age anyway, and doctors are careful about everyone's health but their own. Therefore, such a vacation venture would seem natural, wouldn't it?

The two bottles of beer I had the night before at a Bishop restaurant resulted in a hangover. The altitude, again?

But Osborn and Utter seemed to have escaped the consequences of heavy dinner and drinks. And they had included a pint of bourbon in one pack for relaxation on the trail before dinner.

THE WHOLE show had a sort of mad-cap quality for me—like the sort of thing I might do to collect on a $100,000 life insurance policy, with a suicide clause.

As we stood exchanging final pleasantries, I wanted to ask, "Why? Why for heaven's sake are you doing this? Why not a resort area? Lake Tahoe? A trip to Disneyland?"

But both adventures were already squinting up that slope, at the crystal-clear sky and the mountains beyond.

So I saved my breath for the half-mile trek back to the car.

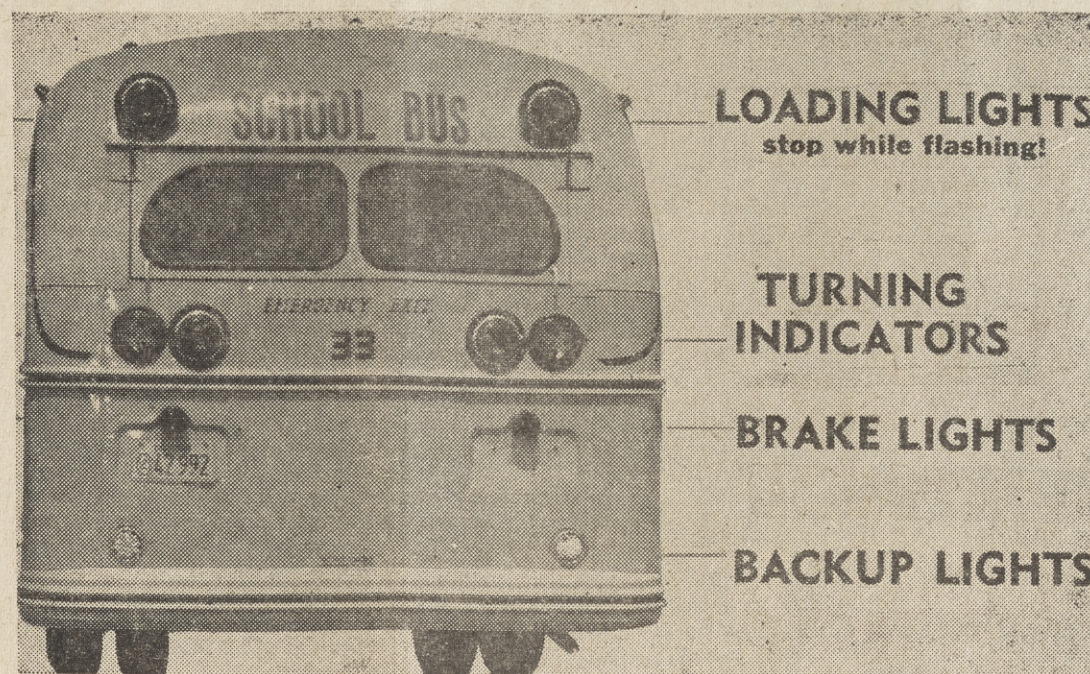

THEY MADE IT.

"Had to cover 22 miles in the last day," Osborn exclaimed happily.

And Monday he was back on the job, full of inquiries about the victories and defeats which were chalked up in the newspaper office while he was gone.

He hasn't done anything very athletic since his return. But his typewriter ribbon needs changing.

It's School Bus Time!

DO YOU KNOW what to do when you meet a bright yellow school bus loading or unloading children by the side of the road? The answer to this question is of major importance to you. See the editorial on this page.

Letters to The Editor

RAPID TRANSIT

(Editor's Note: This is a copy of a letter sent to Chairman Mel Nielsen of the County Board of Supervisors last week by A. I. Combs, president of the Lafayette Oaks Association.)

Dear Editor: Enclosed are petitions signed by 79 more residents of Lafayette opposing the proposed routing of the Bay Area Rapid Transit District through the residential area of Lafayette. Prior to this we submitted to you petitions signed by 230 residents.

At the present time it appears that you are the only supervisor from our county that is sympathetic to our stand on the subject. And only H. L. Morrison, Jr., of the Rapid Transit District directors feels that the route should follow the freeway instead of using the old railroad right-of-way.

We sincerely hope that both of you will continue to support the great majority of Lafayette residents. You may be assured that we have not "given up"; on the contrary, we are starting new activity now to prevent this objectionable routing.

It is difficult for those residents who do not live adjacent to or near the proposed route to realize what a hardship this causes to many home owners. There are about 100 homes directly affected. The owners of these homes do not know what will happen; they hesitate to make improvements that had been planned and desired; they cannot move or sell without a sacrifice; and in the meantime the old railroad right-of-way just "sits there." Apparently it will stay that way for several years to come, unattended and certainly unattractive.

It is difficult, also, for the residents not living along or near the proposed route to realize how it would affect them personally. However, those persons that have been contacted personally, or those who have taken an interest in community affairs, do realize that if we are to have rapid transit it would be far better for the whole of Lafayette to keep the route alongside the existing freeway.

Over 600 residents of Sun Valley and Saranap areas have signed petitions similar to those we are presenting to you. Our new activity here in Lafayette is to contact more of our residents so that everyone will know all of the facts and the reasons why we are taking this stand on the subject.

There is only one reason why the rapid transit directors would route the line through our Lafayette-Sun Valley residential areas. That is because it would cost $3,500,000 less according to their engineers. On the other hand, our county tax structure would lose forever the assessed valuation of well over 100 homes as compared to less than 10 if the route ran parallel to the freeway.

We have many reasons why the route should be alongside the freeway even though it does cost more for construction. Why should Lafayette suffer so that the directors can sell their entire rapid transit project to the people in all five counties? They realize that they need to keep the total cost down to the maximum indebtedness permitted by law. And to save some three million dollars they are willing to "sell" Lafayette a second wide strip splitting our area again, within one mile of the already existing freeway strip.

I feel certain this could not be sold to Lafayette if we were an incorporated city. But as we are not incorporated, we must depend on you to keep our area the quiet, suburban, residential district that we selected when we purchased our homes here.

Please consider, too, that it is not just the residential area that is making this objection to the proposed routing. The plans are to run an overhead trestle from the Lafayette station over to the railroad right-of-way. Certainly this would be an unattractive and undesirable construction at best. And as it would be right in the downtown area of Lafayette, it is understandable why the Lafayette Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups are working to keep the line adjacent to the freeway. We will appreciate your continued support toward this end.

A. I. COMBS

Let's Not Be Lethargic Lukewarm Lotus Eaters!

By MARIE MONAHAN

THAT LANKY long-legged man in the stove pipe hat & the stars & stripes suit would probably like to turn the American public over his knee. For a good old-fashioned woodshed spanking. When it comes to whipping up patriotism these days, or a spirited showing of same, we are a weakly lot!

ONE has only to travel to other countries, to Europe, to Mexico, to come back here with a heart swelling with gratitude for our Good Way of Life. And the bitter knowledge that we take it too much for granted.

THE AMERICAN may be ugly when he's on the global go, but at least he comes home a more appreciative person.

Unfortunately not all of us can step across the border to get a better perspective of just how lucky we are to live in this wonderful country that is ours. We falsely pride ourselves on being patriotic, then overlook the positive and good way of our country & focus on its negative aspects.

WHEN it comes to honoring our flag, our credo & our leaders, we are a lukewarm lethargic lot of Lotus Eaters.

LIKE so much putty, the public has been molded & motivated by the Madison Avenue crowd for so long that the material things take precedent over the basic things that count in this land of the Free & Home of the Privileged —

We spend more for cigarettes & liquor than we do for defense bonds.

We cajole our kiddies, at dinner parties, to recite by rote some silly TV commercial or the latest rock 'n roll hit tune, but do we see to it they learn the stanzas of the Star Spangled Banner?

We consider it fashionable to flock to the stores for the latest record by some Sick-Sick comic who makes cracks about our country as if it's some big very funny joke.

Where once we all waved the flag or flew it with a passionate pride, now we shun it or shelve it — or let neighbor George do it!

There are even those citizens who beg off flying the flag because it's considered "corny" to be a flag waver — or those that shirk voting because — "What difference will my one vote make?"

Were those same self-deprecating citizens forbidden to fly the flag or to vote, they would be the first to rise in anger & hysteria.

Even the current presidential campaign has negative overtones. Listen to people talk & you get the impression that it's an eeny-meeny-miney-mo game they're playing.

The women, who comprise 55 pct. of the voting public, probably are more familiar with Pat's flowered hats & Jackie's pregnant state than they are of the issues involved & the platforms on which the two men are running.

Let's take stock of what we have ... & what others haven't FOR THE SAKE OF Dear Uncle Sam, let's study the issues, know our candidates, listen & watch when they appear on TV together.

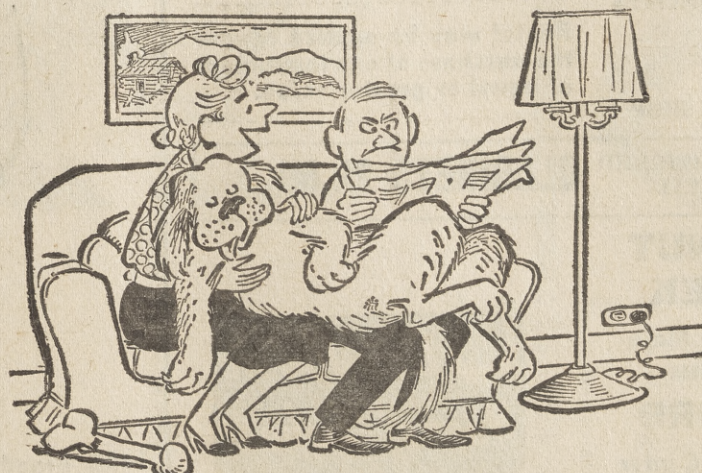

No greater opportunity hath the U.S. voter.

Let's be thankful we can vote. Let's show how red, white & true blue we are by flying our beautiful banner, pasting a sticker on the car, pinning a button on our hat.

In spirit & enthusiasm, let's study the issues ... & vote!

IF THE Best Man ... & the Best Country ... don't come out on top, we have only ourselves to blame ...

Under The Sun Roving Reporter Sees Asian Lands, Split Skirts

By HERMAN SILVERMAN

It may sound melodramatic but this "seasoned war correspondent" (of Contra Costa zoning battles) was just a little nervous last week as we approached Quemoy Island, just 2300 yards from Communist China.

Our group of 14 West Coast newsmen was on a Free China plane, flying 400 feet over the Formosa Straits from Taipei, capital of Taiwan (Formosa.) They were flying low to escape Communist radar or any unpredictable enemy action.

Upon landing on the small island, we were not concerned about the possibility of the Communists lobbing some shells into Quemoy. Communists shells can hit any section of the island and they bang away every other day or so. Today was an even day; they almost always fire on odd days.

In the tunnels of Quemoy

Generals Hwa and Wang guided us on a thorough tour. We saw: miles of underground tunnels and defenses; gun positions; camouflaged guard houses all over the island; propaganda headquarters where they let us release hydrogen-filled balloons carrying pamphlets 5-to-50 miles inside Red China. We saw some of the 40,000 civilians and their villages — some smashed by enemy bombardment.

We could see the Chinese mainland 6500 yards away and, using field glasses, we could see movement on the shore line. The nearest Red Island is only 2300 yards from Quemoy.

The most dangerous incident of the day occurred at lunch, hosted by three Chinese generals, who are courteous, friendly fellows.

They almost killed me — with an old Chinese Custom — of constantly filling each glass with something that sounds like "Kalian" — and tastes like liquid dynamite. It's about 140 proof liquor that explodes in your throat and shatters your insides. The first was the worst but every two minutes the general would say, "Gampay," and you bottoms up your glass and then point it at him. And vice versa.

If you'd like to try some, come over to my house. They gave each of us a bottle.

Soldiers are ready

We spent almost a full day on Quemoy and could feel the tenseness of the war situation. Only on the now-quiet battle lines of Korea had we experienced a similar feeling.

Upon returning to Formosa, at 6:30 p.m., we were driven to the U.S. Embassy. We were briefed by the Charge d'Affaires Joe Yager, Air Force General Kenneth Sanborn and Admiral R. N. Smoot, Commander U.S. Taiwan Defense Command.

Even though it was off the record, the State Department officials played very coy, pretending not to know the real facts about the recent arrests of Chiang Kai-shek's foes. (See story first section.) NBC Radioman Murray Fromson and I accused Mr. Yager of withholding obvious information.

But tall, old Admiral Smoot was forthright, even blunt, in his conviction that the U.S. must in its own interest stand behind Free China and fight for every inch of free land in Asia — or else one of these days we'll find the Communists knocking at the Golden Gate. He wasn't kidding.

An expert's opinion:

And after nearly three weeks in the Far East and hearing ambassadors, generals, admirals, officials of foreign nations, I am now aware that the U.S. and the free world face a determined, aggressive Communist foe with mighty armies and science at their command.

Of course, I am an expert after three weeks in the Far East and plan to write numerous books.

Where have I been these past 3 weeks?

Well, first let me explain that I'm pounding this out as we fly on a Military Air Transport Service plane from Okinawa to Honolulu via Wake and Iwo Jima. I'll be in sunny Contra Costa by the time you read this.

Last week I reported what I saw in Hawaii, Korea and Japan. From Tokyo, we then flew to Okinawa.

Have a peak at the Ryukyus

The Ryukyu chain has a native population of 800,000, with three-fourths living on Okinawa. But Okinawa is not an island with people; it is a fortified military base in the water — almost equidistant from Japan, China, Formosa and the Philippines.

Formerly Japanese, it will be U.S. real estate until there is no longer an emergency in the Pacific — which could be never. President Eisenhower has declared it eventually will be returned to Japan, which the people want. And yet they don't want it because U.S. dollars keep them from going hungry. But they would vote tomorrow for return to Japan.

Okinawa moves U.S. front lines just 50 minutes by air from Red China. If we were forced to move from Japan, Korea, Philippines and/or Formosa, we would still have a major base in the center of southeast Asia.

They kept us busy

Here, as in other areas, we were briefed by civil and military officials, entertained at dinner and cocktail parties and guided through various bases.

Spears vs. H-bombs

These tiny natives actually patrol the fences with their deadly bows and arrows and knives. I bought a small set and a blow gun with metal darts. Here is irony — bow and arrows helping to protect our powerful jet fighters and nuclear-capable bombers.

Other scheduled events in the Philippines were to the U.S. Embassy, 45-minute boat ride to Sangley Field, tours of the Navy's Subic Bay and Cubi Point, seeing millions of dollars of U.S. defense bases.

The ghosts and realities of World War II are ever present here. I saw Corregidor and flew over Bataan. The rusting hulks of sunken ships are in Manila Harbor. Ruined buildings still stand in parts of Manila, which was half destroyed in the war, but is mostly rebuilt now.

War touched most of them

At a dinner party I sat next to a beautiful young Filipina, Letty Echaus, whose father was killed. Our taxi driver, who fought at Bataan and later escaped from the Japanese, lost three brothers and sisters.

Later Letty took us on a tour of Manila, which reflects the Spanish influence. It looks very much like Mexico, but most residents speak English, as well as Spanish, Tagalog and other native dialects.

Incidentally, I think Filipino women are the most beautiful in the Far East, with the smooth-skinned, short Japanese women a close second. Perhaps this is because both have adopted American clothing, cosmetics, mannerisms — I'm not certain.

I'm not overlooking the lovely Chinese in their cheongsams, whose split skirts reveal a startling amount of shapely legs. No one can overlook them. Charming and beautiful are the Eurasian women, half Asian — half European.

Now how did I get on that subject?

Fashions To Be Promenaded

Sixteen attractive models will promenade a brilliant collection of the newest Fall and Winter styles October 6 when Laurel Junior Branch of the Children's Hospital of the East Bay stages its annual luncheon and fashion show in the Garden Room of the Hotel Claremont.

Taking a cue from the coming elections, the political campaign will provide the inspiration for this year's affair.

Topping the contingent of models will be Mrs. Robert Wilson Field of Orinda, a member of Lombardy Branch. Popular Peggy, charming aspirant to the "Queen of the Hospital" title, is the chosen candidate of Laurel Junior in this year's Hospital Queen Contest.

Others on the modeling roster include Mesdames Lloyd Bradhoff, Danville resident and a member of Papaya Branch; J. Frank Coakley, Olive; Walter Drager, Fir; Harold Eberhart, Azalea; Ralph Hill of Orinda, Orinda Branch; Charles Hudson, Pepper; William McGuire, Lafayette; Lombardy; William Robinson, Orinda; Alder; Mrs. Homer Spence, Laurel; and Mrs. Jack Truman, Walnut Creek, a member of Walnut Branch.

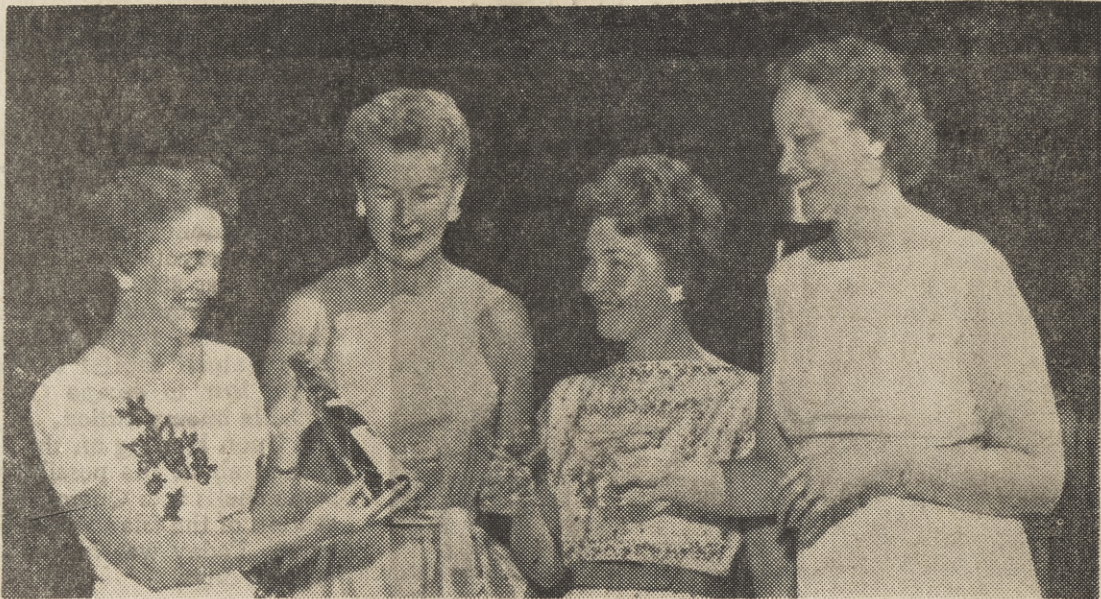

Also, the Mesdames David Fink, Perry Holmes, Lafayette; Edward Mannon, Orinda; Charles Rodier, Pleasant Hill, and H. B. Turman, Jr., all associate members of Laurel Junior.

Mrs. Walter B. Snow, Jr., is general chairman of the event.

Others assisting as committee chairmen for various phases of the show are the Mesdames James Cullom, Charles Currier, tickets; Fenn Wilson, programs; John Tague, William Gaughen, decorations; Carleton Champion III, special events; Thomas Crellin, favors; Lloyd Kindall, Jr., models, and Jack Block, publicity.

For reservations, contact Mrs. Charles Currier, Yellowstone 5-5785. Tickets are available from any branch member.

All proceeds will benefit the part pay program of Children's Hospital, Junior.

TEMPTING wines will be served at Pandor Chapter's "Night in Venice" cocktail party to be held at the Rheem Estate on October 8 to benefit Children's Home Society. Checking a rare vintage are from left, Mesdames Edward Walsh, Carl Davis, Ed Hillyer and Gerald Tesman.

Nearly One Thousand Attend Hospital Benefit

Stars blazed in the heavens and in the trees (the latter secured in their precarious perches by decorations chairman Mrs. Alex Lindsay), and floating candles flickered in the pool, while guests danced the evening away at the John Muir Memorial Hospital's big fund-raising gala Saturday night at the Claremont Ranch. The affair was aptly named "Evening Under The Stars."

Nearly a thousand Contra Costa socialites congregated at the former Henry J. Kaiser estate for cocktails, fashion show, dining, and dancing to Ray Hackett's orchestra. A San Francisco cable car trans-motorized and gaily decorated publicity.

For reservations, contact Mrs. Charles Currier, Yellowstone 5-5785. Tickets are available from any branch member.

All proceeds will benefit the part pay program of Children's Hospital, Junior.

PEO Chapters Will Present Fall Fashions

"Vintage Fashions," featuring fall styles from Joseph Magnin, were discussed at a recent luncheon by members of the Concord and Walnut Creek chapters of the PEO Sisterhood.

In a setting commemorative of the California grape harvest, the fashion show will be held October 5 at 8 p.m. at the Elks Club on Willow Pass Road in Concord.

Under the co-chairmanship of Mrs. John S. Shaw, of Concord Chapter OE, and Mrs. D. P. Speir, of Walnut Creek Chapter QC, details were outlined to the following committee chairmen: Mesdames S. D. Bush and David Torney, decorations; B. O. Wilson, refreshments; James Schaffer, programs, Oliver Holmes, prizes; K. H. Ristad, ticket sales and Lyle Turner, publicity.

Modeling the Joseph Magnin fashions will be Betty Currie, Carol Teskey, Faye Teskey, Mrs. H. J. Dyer, all of Walnut Creek; Mrs. Clarence Roen of Alamo; and Mesdames David Torney, K. H. Ristad, John Rose, G. H. Miller, and J. B. McFarland of Concord.

Formal Party Honors Diablo 12th Birthday

Members of Diablo Country Club will celebrate the club's Twelfth Anniversary tomorrow with a formal dinner and dance.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Howard are entertainment chairmen for the event which will begin with dinner at 9 p.m. Dancing will be in the main ballroom from 9 p.m. to 2 a.m.

Chairmen for the party are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Brunkhorst, who will be assisted by the Mesdames and Messrs. B. Kirkland, John Hudspeith, H. Grandell and Paul Fulmer.

The club house will be decorated in white with pink accent and gold leaves. A giant cake will be cut at 11 p.m., commemorating Diablo's anniversary and honoring John Enright, president, and the club's past presidents.

MILADY'S Chapeau is always of interest, particularly in the Fall. Modeling a new creation, Mrs. David Torney, right, smiles at Mrs. Dan Spier, co-chairman of the Walnut Creek-Concord PEO sponsored fashion show to be held at the Concord Elks' Club on October 5 at 8 p.m. The center piece pictured will be duplicated on some forty tables at the big event.

Alpha Chi Omega Alums Open Season Tomorrow

A "Farewell to Summer" party on Saturday at 6 p.m. will not conclude, but begin the activities of the Mt. Diablo Club of Alpha Chi Omega Alumnae.

The husband and wife buffet-supper as a season-opener is becoming a tradition popular with the group. This year it will be held around the pool and adjoining lanai of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Davis of 872 Forest Lane, Alamo, with swimming and cocktails preceding the gourmet supper.

Any new Alpha Chis in the area are welcome and may make reservations by calling Mrs. Louis Fambri, YE 5-1944, or Mrs. T. H. Worthington, MU 5-7541.

Assisting them with the Patio party are the Mesdames Melvin H. Kelley and Wm. Penn Mott of Grinda; Richard Huntoon of Walnut Creek; Robert Murphy of Danville; Theodore P. Lake of Alamo; George Fekula and Theodore F. Bryant of Lafayette.

Those attending will be eager to hear from Mrs. Harold Bowers of Orinda as she just returned from the Diamond Jubilee Convention at French Lick, Indiana. The highlight of the convention was the presenta-

Mills College Club To Hear Dr. G. Hadley

Mrs. John MacKenzie, the president of the Mt. Diablo Mills College Club will conduct the first meeting of the year next Friday at 7.

The dinner meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. von Colditz of 563 Arrowhead Drive, Lafayette, and is for members and husbands.

The guest speaker will be Dr. George Hadley, Mills College Chaplain and Professor of Economics and Sociology. He has been at Mills since 1940 and is a nationally known educator, author and lecturer.

Two of his books have been chosen as Religious Book of the Month Club selections. Although Dr. Hadley still retains his status as a Methodist minister, his recent ordination to priest's orders within the Protestant Episcopal Church was the subject of a Time Magazine article.

Tuesday Morning Forum Resumes October Fourth

Six new directors were introduced to the board of the Diablo Tuesday Morning Forum at a luncheon meeting held at the home of Mrs. Hubert Prost in Ygnacio valley recently.

New board members who were greeted by Mrs. Arch J. Campbell, Forum coordinator, are the Mesdames Louis Plummer, Laurence Curtola, Thomas Peterson and Howard Wiedemann.

Others who will serve the Forum this season are Mesdames Robert Bartlett, treasurer; R. J. Molloy, program chairman; William Boyd, coffee hostess; Clifton Moore, publicity. Acting on an advisory committee will be Mesdames Stanley Friden and William Hale, Jr.

The first program of three scheduled for the fall series will be held at the Diablo Country Club on October 4. Helen Kirkpatrick will address the Forum.

Her subject will be "The United States Looks at a New Europe."

A coffee hour will be held at 9:30 a.m. preceding the start of the lecture at 10 a.m.

Mrs. Nemetz Is Hard Worker...

AUDUBON Society Scholarship winner, Mrs. Frank Nemetz of 2822 San Antonio Drive, Walnut Creek, will be instructor for the Natural Science Club due to start October 3 at San Miguel School. Pictured here with her children Karen and Frank, she checks the wing of a young bird.

Science Club Instructor She Works Enthusiastically

By JEAN JERNIGAN

When boys and girls interested in natural science gather at the San Miguel School on October 3 for the first meeting of their Science Club, they will be introduced to their instructor, Mrs. Frank Nemetz of 2822 San Antonio Drive, Walnut Creek.

Mrs. Nemetz, who is an instructor for the Walnut Creek Recreation Department, sponsors of the Science Club, has been interested in natural science since high school days.

A MEMBER of the Junior Audubon Society while in high school, her activities in this field were temporarily set aside while she earned her B.A. degree at the University of Michigan, emerging as a professional custom dress designer.

She worked successfully in this field for 12 years in San Francisco, and then in Walnut Creek. Her interest in natural science turned to activity in this field when her son Frank, now 13, was a student at Oak Grove School where the youngsters were interested in forming a science club.

"I decided to concentrate on the field of science," she recalled, "as my work in this area includes the children, whereas the dress designing business pretty well excluded them."

VOLUNTEERING to help out with the club at school, Mrs. Nemetz plunged in all the way. Last year she studied natural science, and conservation at Diablo Valley College, worked with the school children through their classes and studied with other teachers obtaining more research material for the then infant science club.

In addition to her own field trips with the college class, Mrs. Nemetz managed to take the youngsters in the club on many field trips.

Her efforts to encourage and teach interested boys and girls more about natural sciences were recognized by the Audubon Society and last summer she was given a scholarship to attend the Audubon Camp at Sugar Bowl, near the Donner Pass.

"IT WAS A wonderful experience," she exclaimed, "but we really worked hard. There were two field trips every day, with films and lectures in between and in the evening."

Summer was particularly busy for the Nemetz family. Not only did Mrs. Nemetz attend the Audubon Camp, but she also directed the nature activities for the Campfire Girls during their one week sessions on Mt. Diablo.

Mrs. Nemetz coached junior baseball, and as usual, the family vacationed in the Sierras. "It is partly through our summers in the Sierras that we became actively engaged in natural science work," she said.

When one sees the damage that is done in our wilderness areas, and how little is being done in the way of teaching our children conservation, one really becomes inspired to broaden their horizons in this field, she concluded.

THE SCIENCE CLUB, due to start in October for boys and girls in grades five through eight in the Walnut Creek area schools, is the result of mutual parent, teacher pupil interest continuing from last year coupled with a golden opportunity for first hand conservation work at the new San Miguel School.

"The trees were mowed down at the school during construction and nothing was left but bare earth and dirt blowing around. It seemed like a good place to develop a nature area."

"The landscape committee for the school met with Superintendent James W. Dent of the Mt. Diablo Unified School District, Mrs. Ruth Wallis, director of recreation, City of Walnut Creek, who was interested in developing recreation in the area, and we discussed the possibilities of Science Club."

"THE CLUB will meet Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays according to age group, after classes at San Miguel School with many Saturday field trips planned," Mrs. Nemetz related.

Mrs. Nemetz has also been active with PTA for both children, Karen who is eight and a half, and Frank. She worked on an educational survey at the Walnut Acres School and participated in PTA activities at both schools.

In addition to school affairs, Mrs. Nemetz and her husband are active with the San Miguel Improvement Association for which she edits the association's newsletter.

A lady who enthusiastically exclaimed, "I love to cook," Mrs. Nemetz specializes in Hungarian dishes. "When Frank was overseas, I was working in San Francisco where, as frequently happens in the designing business, there were people of all nationalities."

WE USED to exchange recipes, then at night I would go home and experiment. By the time Frank returned from overseas, I had mastered quite a few rich and wonderful foreign recipes," she recalled.

The only permanent pet at the Nemetz home is their dog, Louie. "The others come and go," she laughed. When anyone finds a hurt bird or a mangled snake, they bring it to us. We try to fix them up and care for them until they are well enough to be set free. The ones that don't recover we stuff and use for specimens.

Other business took them to Chester, England, Paris, Brussels and Amsterdam.

When the Fowkes return from Europe they hope to find their new home at 110 Las Vegas, Orinda, will be ready for occupancy.

Visit The Carnival

A busy year began for members of Heidi Chapter of the Children's Home Society recently when Mrs. Charles Morrill, president, called to order their first meeting of the fall season in the garden of Mrs. Charles Grant on Los Palos Drive, Lafayette.

Mrs. R. P. Cornelison of Walnut Creek, chairman of Heidi's annual luncheon, "Mistletoe Magic," reported the progress her committee was making on plans for this year's party to be held at the Castlewood Country Club on December 1.

Heidi Chapter members are inviting friends of the Children's Home Society to a carnival and open house at the Society's Headquarters, 3204 Telegraph Avenue, Oakland, tomorrow from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Special entertainment for children and many bazaar booths for the adults and children have been planned with 28 chapters from the Peninsula, San Francisco, Marin, Contra Costa and Alameda Counties participating. This is the first such function in the history of the Home's volunteer services.

The Children's Home hopes all those interested in the work of the Home will take this opportunity to visit it and spend a day of fun with the staff and the hostesses from the chapters. Heidi's part in the day's activities will be a grab bag booth for children. Mrs. Kenneth Keller of Lafayette is chairman of the booth.

Children's Home Society, a member of the United Crusade, is the oldest licensed private adoption agency in California. The Society has been carrying on its work in California since 1891 and during that time has placed almost 20,000 children with adoptive mothers and fathers.

White Elephant Auction Slated

The Diablo Valley Alumnae of Alpha Gamma Delta will hold their first meeting of the fall at the home of Mrs. David Armstrong, 3528 South Silver Springs, Lafayette, at 8 p.m. on Monday.

All new alumnae of the area are asked to call Mrs. Armstrong and attend the meeting. A white elephant auction will be held, and then the members will make neckties for a bazaar to be given this fall to aid the Las Trampas school for retarded children.

New officers for the coming year are:

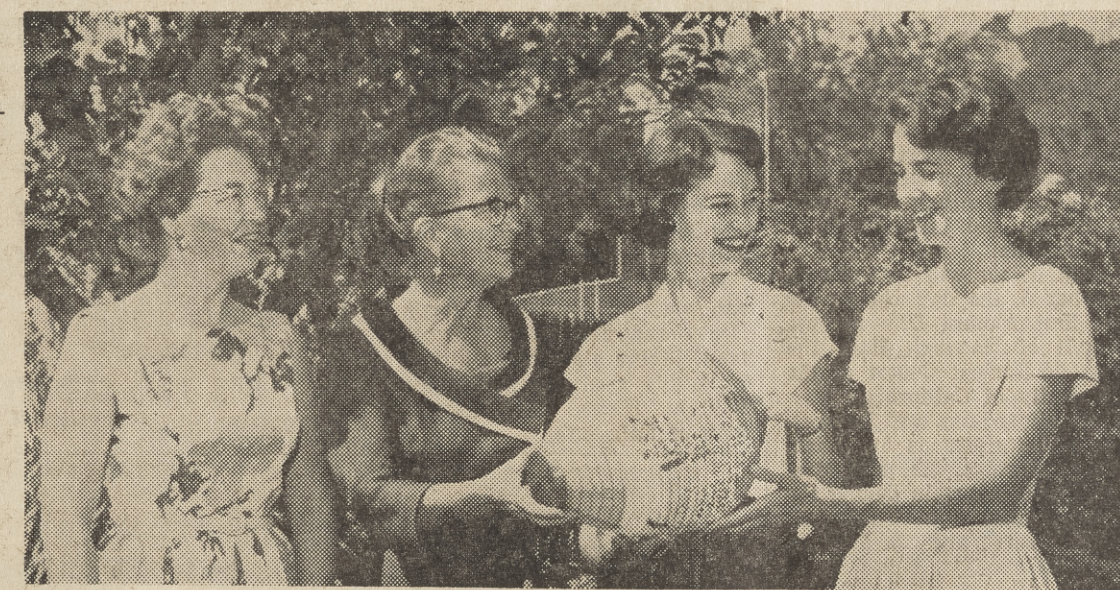

Mrs. J. J. Fuerst, president; David Armstrong, vice president; Richard Hansen, secretary treasurer; F. F. Warnke, editor; Sam Conti, Panhellenic representative; E. W. Jacobson, Panhellenic alternate; W. T. Worden, hospitality chairman; Howard Parsons, altruistic chairman; F. T. Williams, IRD chairman; Sam Conti, recommendations chairman and Thurston Perry, telephone chairman.

Dental Society Has Potluck

The Diablo Dental Assistant's Society held their first meeting of their new membership year recently in the West Room at Diablo Valley College. Miss Joanne Young, president, presided over the meeting, which was a potluck dinner. Dental assistants, dental assisting students and their mothers attended.

There will be a board of directors' meeting at the home of Wanda Mooney, Tuesday, at 8 p.m., 75 Quail Court, Walnut Creek.

Pi Beta Phi Plan Benefit

A warm and friendly Japanese phrase sets the mood for the Dessert Bridge party to be held by the Contra Costa Chapter, Alumnae of Pi Beta Phi, on Wednesday. "Kotira koso," "the pleasure is ours," expresses the sentiments of the Pi Phis as they entertain friends and at the same time work toward a worthy goal.

The lovely home of Mrs. M. Pierce Milton in Happy Valley, Lafayette, is the setting for the affair. The garden and pool-side area will reflect the Japanese theme. The purpose of the party will be most apparent in the Milton home for there will be displayed the handcraft products of the Pi Beta Phi Settlement School.

This school was established years ago in the Smoky Mountains of Tennessee to restore and preserve the fading hand arts of early America.

The program expanded to one of aiding in the health and education of the isolated mountain people. Now from the area comes a lovely and unique line of linens, skirts, handbags, baskets, brooms, carved objects. The sale of these items aids in the support of the school.

Also to benefit from the party is a young mountain boy who is being helped through high school and whose medical bills are being met by the local Pi Phis as their special project.

Among those attending from Lafayette are Mesdames F. R. Preece, Edward Molloy, Raymond Swanson, Gale Harris, John Hansen and Arthur Kaiser.

Mesdames George Dibble, Harold Pfiffner and F. A. Davies of Lafayette will bring guests. As will Mrs. Thomas McCord and Mrs. John Gillan of Pleasant Hill, also the chapter president, Mrs. Roger H. Downs of Walnut Creek.

Everybody's Going to the Fair!

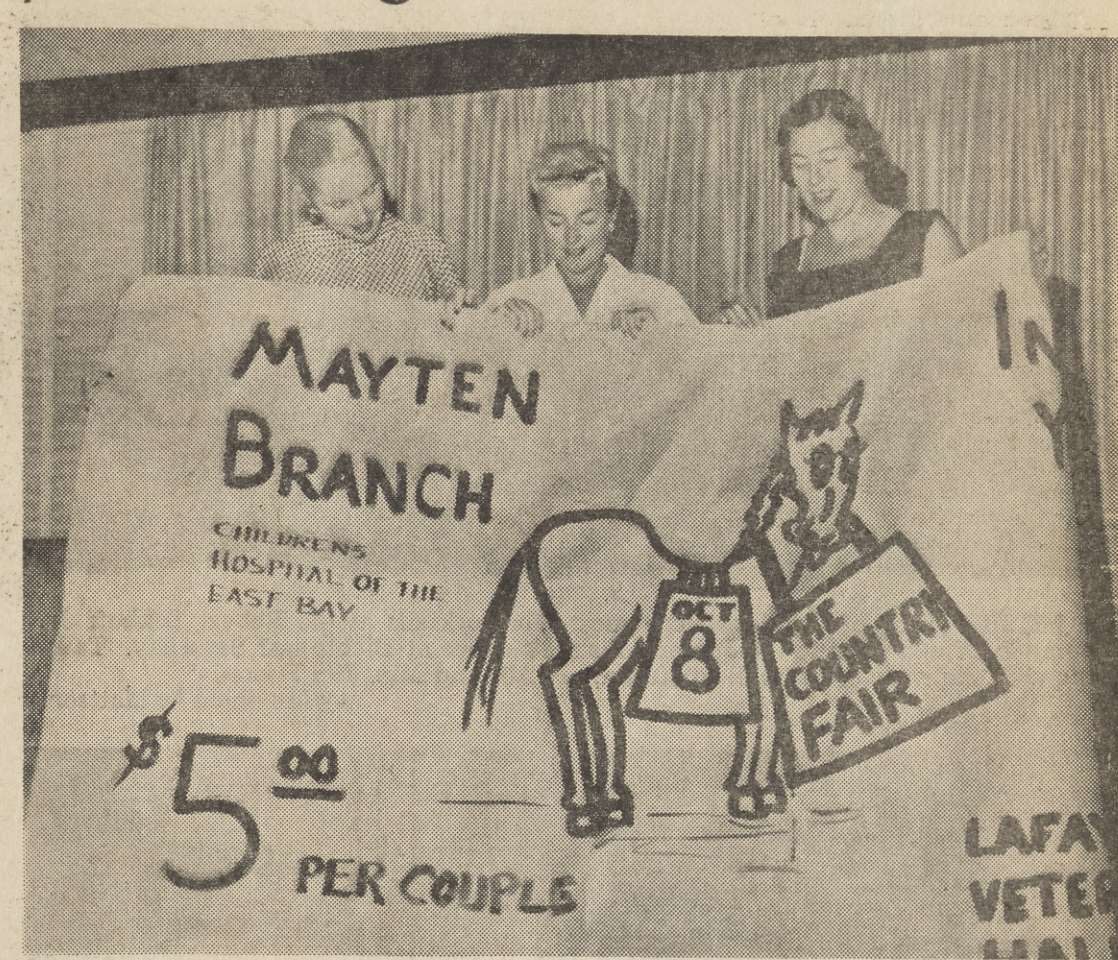

Mayten Branch of Children's Hospital of the East Bay will repeat their highly successful dinner dance of last year. According to Mrs. Robert Stewart, general chairman, October 8 is the date to remember and the Lafayette Veterans Hall on Mt. Diablo Blvd. is the Fairgrounds.

It will be Country Fair in theme and flavor. Invitation and ticket chairman Mrs. Jack R. Simpson assisted by Mrs. Albert Johansson have made up clever jigsaw invitations placed in mail sacks.

Decorations are being handled by Mesdames T. C. Kallam, chairman; John Everett, Roger Patterson, E. A. Patterson and R. E. Melmore. The entire Veterans Hall will be decorated from entry hall to white table cloths in the basement, where a delicious dinner will be served from 8 to 10:30 p.m. Dinner arrangements are being made by Mesdames Herbert Goranson, chairman; George Stratos, S. L. Stoval, Wm. R. Wignall and Myron W. Osmunson assisting her.

After dinner Mrs. Walter Ammon has arranged for Dick Levin and his orchestra to play for dancing. Games and prizes will take up the party goes time between dances. Those planning this part of the evening are Mrs. Anthony Yriberri, David L. Barton, Roger Willett and Ross Mainwaring.

Tickets may be purchased by phoning Mesdames Stuart at CL 4-4025 or Yriberri at CL 4-5779.

Sharon Payne To Wed

Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Clark Payne of 3676 Moraga Boulevard, Lafayette, have announced the engagement of their daughter, Sharon Elaine, to James Austin Cissell of Glendale.

Miss Payne is a graduate of St. Luke's Hospital School of Nursing in San Francisco. She has chosen November 12 for her wedding at St. Perpetua's Church, Lafayette.

Her fiancé is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Cissell of Glendale and is stationed at Fort Bray.

Junior Women Conduct Drive For Clothing

The Pleasant Hill Junior Women's Club is presently assisting in the combined efforts of citizens of the Pleasant Hill, Concord area in their drive to collect clothing to be transported to Japan by the U.S.S. Mauna Kea.

Clothes will be collected from now until November 1. Anyone having contributions of usable clothing is urged to contact Mrs. W. W. Hallmeyer, International Affairs chairman, at YE 4-7883.

Articles will be picked up by club members. Contributions of warm clothing are principally needed for ages ranging from infants to teen-agers. Adult clothing can also be used. Shoes of all sizes with the exception of high heels are also needed, especially men's work shoes.

Mrs. Hallmeyer has also planned several other outstanding fall projects. The club plans on donating $50 for an organ for a missionary school in Formosa. Proceeds from ticket sales for the club's fall fashion show, "Autumn Haze," on October 8.

Club members are currently busy making hand puppets for their "Toys for Tearful Tots" project for Ward D, Children's Ward, at the County Hospital.

A cancer film will be shown to club members through the efforts of Mrs. William Calder, Build a Better Community chairman, at their Thursday meeting. W. J. Eldred, M.D., will be present to answer questions. Anyone interested in viewing the film may contact Mrs. Calder at MU 2-3215. Mrs. Richard Gillespie, president, announces the appointment of Mrs. James Wimberly as club secretary.

First Tau Nu Meeting Is Big Success

right, president and the club's Mrs. Leonard Long of Pine-wood Court, Walnut Creek, was hostess for officers and members of Tau Nu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi, a recent evening for the first meeting of the current year, with Mrs. Raymond Stewart, president, presiding.

The first program from the book, "Conduct, Expression, Purpose" entitled "Introductions and Invitations" was presented by Mrs. Charles Erickson, vice president, who was co-hostess for the evening, was Mrs. Charles Berry.

The committee chairman presented the activities of the various committees for the approval of the members.

Special attention was given to the Ways and Means committee under the direction of Mrs. Emmitt Laidlaw and to the annual booth at the Walnut Festival.

Service chairman Mrs. Long requested the president hold in abeyance service work for the chapter until the committee receives more information regarding projects now under discussion. Mrs. Charles O'Bryan, publicity chairman, gave detailed accounting of a delightful tea she attended on board the ammunition ship USS Mauna Kea as guest of Mrs. Donald Coffin of Pleasant Hill.

After a tour of the ship, Captain H. D. Hilton explained the purpose of "Hard Clasp" and how the people in this area could assist the unfortunate of Japan by gathering usable clothing together to be transported by the USS Mauna Kea and distributed by missionaries and orphanages.

The members of Tau Nu voted to support this worthy project. Membership chairman, Mrs. Erickson, outlined the rushing program.

Special guest of the evening was Mrs. Wally Billington of Pleasant Hill. Mrs. Billington plans to transfer to Tau Nu in the immediate future.

Following the closing ritual, Mrs. O'Bryan in her capacity as photographer took the official pictures of the Executive Board and the various committees for the chapter scrap book, of which she is also in charge.

Cake and ice cream, tea or coffee were served to every member of the chapter, which also included Mesdames John Evoniuk, Warren Cryer, Dale Matson and Garth Duncan.

Anne Alpen Is Bride

Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Alpen of O'Connor Drive, Lafayette, announce the marriage of their daughter, Anne Elizabeth, to Paul S. De Carli.

The bride attended Lafayette Grammar School, Alacanes High School and received her Bachelor's and Master's degrees in mathematics from the University of California.

A native of Stockton, the groom was graduated from Stanford University and is associated with Stanford Research Institute as a metallurgist.

The couple will make their home in Menlo Park.

Junior Alliance Big Benefit Is Success

The "Election Special" arrived on Saturday at the Diablo Country Club reports "campaign" chairman, Mrs. Walter T. Lake.

Junior Alliance unanimously supported Lincoln (Home for Children) with their annual fall dance. Working on the party's platform from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. were Henry Gallagher and his orchestra.

Large groups made the trip to Diablo from both sides of the Tunnel after pre-dance parties given by Junior Alliance members.

In Lafayette, the Charles R. Martins (just returned from vacationing at the Coronado Hotel with the Vernon Louis) had a buffet supper before the dance for the Mark Chafins, Roland Carrothers, Doyle Confers, Steve Corsos, and Michael Filices.

A no-host dinner was given at the Brass Door in Danville with Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Louis, Dr. and Mrs. Frank Spencer of Orinda Dr. and Mrs. Wesley Risedorph, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Steele, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Solinsky all of Oakland; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Warren of Castro Valley.

Others in the party included the Carl R. Forsbergs, Bernard Adams, Robert Stithems, Richard Stones, Robert DeChenes, and Robert Sorensens.

Among the guests of the William Ingrams in their Orinda home were Mr. and Mrs. Richard King and Mr. and Mrs. Alan McDowell.

Barbecue Under Stars Honors Guests

Mr. and Mrs. John Evoniuk were hosts to the members and husbands of Tau Nu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi on a recent Sunday evening, for a barbecue on their patio in Rolling Hills. The affair honored prospective members and their spouses and was under the direction of Mrs. Charles Erickson, vice president.

Assisting her was social chairman Mrs. A. M. Walker Jr. and committee member Mrs. Charles Berry. Although name tags were provided by the committee, nearly everyone performed the "who am I?" pinned to each back. Consequently, enjoying cold refreshments, delicious salads and barbecued steaks were such well-known characters as Ike and Mamie, Mickey and Minnie Mouse, Popeye and Olive Oyl, Eddie Fisher and Liz Taylor, Franklin D. and Eleanor Roosevelt.

After the barbecue and before the dancing, Mrs. Raymond Stewart, president called a short meeting.

Special guests attending the barbecue were Mesdames and Messrs. James Housley, Samuel Indelicato and Robert Massone. Other officers attending were Recording Secretary and Emmitt Laidlaw and Civilian Defense Officer Arthur Brittain. Members gathered were the Garth Duncans, Leonard Longs and Charles O'Bryans.

W.C. Juniors Hold First Meeting

The first Tuesday in September opened the club year for the Junior Women's Club of Walnut Creek. The report of the chairmen revealed that during the summer two Book Fairs were held to raise money for the club's philanthropy.

The 322 books left over from the sales were donated to the local Mental Health Office and then sent to the State Hospital at Napa.

Two projects are in the near future for money raising for the current philanthropy. The club will participate in the Walnut Festival with a float in the parade and a booth at the city park. The Juniors this year will sell milkshakes, ice cream and coffee. Cakes donated by the Senior Women's Club will be sold in the evenings.

The Juniors will also help the Seniors hostess at the Art Exhibit. The local club has also set the date of November 12 for their annual dance at the Elks Club.

Area Homes Open for Alumni Day

Among the many homes to be opened for the first Newman Club Alumni Day will be those of Mesdames Albert Boardman of Orinda and Linwood Clark of Lafayette.

Both homes will be open on October 5, the day chosen for the first Alumni Day for the benefit of Newman Hall, the Catholic Student Center at the University of California.

Mrs. Boardman will be hostess in the afternoon for luncheon and bridge. Mr. and Mrs. Clark will entertain during the evening from 8 to 11:30 p.m. for dessert and bridge or games.

Twohees Have Poolside Party

The home of Dr. and Mrs. Norman Betague was the scene of the annual "husband and wife" party, given by members of the Towhee Unit, Mt. Diablo Therapy Center. The dinner party was held beside the pool with swimming for the guests early in the evening.

Three new members were welcomed by Towhee members. They are Mesdames Robert Egerton and James Ford, both of Lafayette, and Franklin Williams of Pleasant Hill.

During the summer members of the Towhee Unit met in work parties in preparation for the Christmas Bazaar.

Toddlers, Moms Enjoy Tau Nu Social Event

Social chairman Mrs. A. M. Walker Jr. served coffee and homemade pastries to the members and guests of Tau Nu Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi who gathered around her Japanese Tea House on a recent Tuesday morning to relax and exchange pleasantries while watching their children of preschool age.

Committee member Mrs. John Evoniuk made the delicious pastries and committee members Mesdames Charles Berry and Charles Erickson assisted in the serving while stepping over, around and about toddlers of all shapes and sizes.

Guests attending were Mrs. Raymond Stewart, President and Mesdames Arthur Brittain, Leonard Long, Charles O'Bryan, Emmitt Laidlaw, Robert Massone, Warren Cryer, Wally Billington, Donald Williams, Dale Matson, Garth Duncan and special guest, Roberta Gooding.

Phi Mu Alums To Honor New Pledges

Phi Mu Alumnae of the East Bay and Contra Costa areas will join together to honor new Phi Mu pledges at the University of California. A swim party and luncheon are planned for Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Tobia Wiley is the hostess, assisted by Mrs. George Heath and Mrs. Beth Hegeman. Others planning to attend from this area are Mesdames William Short and Norman Stott of Lafayette.

Alpha Lambda To Have Food Booth

Actively engaged in plans for the forthcoming Walnut Festival in Walnut Creek are members of Alpha Lambda Chapter of Omega Nu. At the festival, this group of hard-working Contra Costa women will again be on hand to serve hamburgers and refreshments to the hungry crowd.

Heading the committee for this charity project are co-chairmen Mesdames Charles W. Nickel and George J. Anderson. They will be assisted by all active and inactive members of this philanthropic sorority.

All profits from Omega Nu's refreshment stand at the Walnut Festival will again this year be presented to the John Muir Memorial Hospital fund. It is hoped the contribution will exceed Omega Nu's donation to the fund last year of $1250.

First Luncheon Is Set for Women's Club

Mrs. Sherman Camp, president of the Women's Club of Walnut Creek, will preside at the opening club luncheon of the new year on Tuesday at the clubhouse at 12:30 p.m.

Following the luncheon and social hour, Mrs. Ray Rosel, program chairman, will introduce Alys Swan, who will present "A Musical Kaleidoscope." A kaleidoscope view of musical treasures dating from early 1900 through the jazz age up to current musical comedy.

The directors in charge of arrangements are Mesdames Delmar Brunsard, R. B. Keller and Howard Grotts. The hostesses will be Mesdames Malcolm White, Barton Walker, Ray Turner, T. G. Turner, E. H. Thomas, George Thomas, Charles Spears, E. Wells Smith, Henry Keiths, Leonard Secler, J. A. Robertson and Leonard P. Worthington.

Mesdames Claude B. Smith, Floyd L. Burrows and E. R. Bells are on the reservation committee.

A DOUBLE ring ceremony united Margaret Lee Sanguinetti and Frederick Lincoln, Jr., on August 28 at Saratoga Federated Church, Saratoga. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Lincoln, Sr., of Oak Hill Road, Lafayette. The flower girl is Linda Johnson.

Delta Gamma Alumnae Start Busy Season

The fall activity of the Orinda Delta Gamma Alumnae began with a flourish on Wednesday when members met at the Happy Valley home of Mrs. Miller Freeman, Jr., for a dessert-bridge and swim party.

Co-hostesses, assisting Mrs. Freeman were Mesdames I. K. Vantrees and Andrew Wolfe. The group has planned a busy schedule for this season. Included will be social as well as fund raising events.

Venetian Decor To Prevail at Cocktail Party

"A Night in Venice" is the theme for the cocktail party to be held by Pandora Chapter, Children's Home Society, on October 8 from 4 to 8 p.m. at the Donald Rheem Estate, Moraga.

Mrs. Edward Walsh is general chairman for the event. Decorations, under the direction of Mrs. Gerald Tesman will be in keeping with the Venetian theme. A gondola filled with flowers will float in the pool in the sunken court yard.

Flaming torches will light the way at the Devin Drive entrance for friends of the Pandora members who will be participating in the chapter's first major function following summer vacation.

Chapter Plans Rummage Sale

Members of Rocking Horse Chapter of Children's Home Society of California are enthusiastically preparing for a one-day rummage sale to be held at 1325 Locust street, Walnut Creek, October 1, 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

CUTTING their wedding cake, Mr. and Mrs. Edward John Ferro smile happily after their marriage September 10 at Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church. She is the former Elaine Marie Gogstad, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Idar Gogstad of Legion Court, Lafayette.

Alumnae Plan Sept. Luncheon

The Alpha Delta Pi Diablo Alumnae will start the fall season with a luncheon-bridge meeting on Tuesday at 12 p.m., Horsley, 592 Lucas Drive, Lafayette.

Future monthly meetings will be dessert-bridge meetings, commencing at noon on the fourth Tuesday of each month. Plans to raise money to aid the Psi chapter of Alpha Delta Pi at the University of California will be discussed and developed at these meetings.

New Alpha Delta Pi residents of the area interested in affiliating with their sorority alumnae group are invited to attend

Sigma Kappa Alumnae Group Has Meeting

Sigma Kappa sorority members of the Diablo Valley Alumnae group started their fall program with a brunch and poolside party last week.

Lylas Lynn Is Bride of Robert Munn

At home in San Francisco are Mr. and Mrs. Richard Munn who were married August 20 at the Community Methodist Church. She is the former Lylas Lynn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Keith Lynn of Lafayette.

The benedict is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Munn of Monticello Road, Walnut Creek.

He was a graduate of Acalanes and the University of Oregon, class of 1960. While at the University he was affiliated with Alpha Tau Omega. He plans to attend Hastings School of Law in San Francisco.

Also a graduate of Acalanes, the bride received her B.A. degree from the University of California at Berkeley, class of 1959.

Reverend George Berry and Reverend Harry Shaner, formerly of the Lafayette Community Church performed the double ring ceremony.

Alice Lynn was her sister's maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Diane Robertson and Judy Gibson. Standing with the groom was George Hampton. The ushers were John Larsen and Bob Kenny.

The bride wore a dress of tiered white lace over satin with a chapel train. Her fingertip veil was attached to a cap of white pearls. Her jewelry was a cameo pin that belonged to her maternal great grandmother and was a wedding gift to her own mother.

A white orchid surrounded by white roses and stephanotis fashioned the bridal bouquet.

The maid of honor was dressed in old gold silk organza and carried tangerine carnations.

The bridesmaids wore tangerine silk organza and carried gold carnations.

Mrs. Lynn chose a print chiffon dress, shaded from aqua to teal blue for her daughter's wedding. Mrs. Munn wore a dress of pale rose chiffon with side drape and matching accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white cymbidium.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the garden of the home of the bride's aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. M. de Villers of Monroe Avenue, Lafayette.

Edward Ferro Is Married to Elaine Gogstad

Lake Tahoe was the honeymoon destination of the former Elaine Marie Gogstad and Edward John Ferro, who were married in the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church September 10.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Idar Gogstad of 4096 Legion Court, Lafayette. The benedict's parents are the John Ferros of 4057 Valente Court, Lafayette.

Escorted to the altar by her father, Elaine wore a chapel length gown of lace and organza beaded with tiny seed pearls. A seed pearl tiara held her veil, and she carried white stephanotis, carnations and pink baby roses.

Attending Elaine as maid-of-honor was Sue Macduff. Bridesmaids were Carolyn Biasotti, Jeanne Sindahl and Lee Ferro. They wore royal blue faille taffeta, and carried pink carnation nosegays.

The groom's best man was his brother, Ray Ferro. Ushers were Perry Palin, Don Mortara and Dave Gogstad, the bride's brother.

A champagne reception was held at the home of the bride's parents.

Acalanes-Pleasant Hill Game Tops Practice Slate

-Sun Sports-

Page 20 Orinda Sun Friday, Sept. 23, 1960

Surprising Rams Feature Small, Speedy Backfield

The Acalanes Dons play their opener tonight at 8 p.m. when they host the surprising Pleasant Hill Rams.

The Dons, playing their first game of the as yet young 1960 season, have the advantage of home field plus the fact the Rams couldn't get a scout report in as much as they didn't play last week.

The Rams have the advantage of a game under their belts and their 6-0 win over Las Lomas is bound to give them a lift and make them tough to handle.

THE ACALANES ELEVEN will have a definite weight advantage, particularly in the backfield, but as head coach Bob Stevens put it, "We are untested as yet while the Rams have already demonstrated they want to play football, as witness their win last week over the Knights."

The Rams have a speedy backfield with Archie Allison, veteran senior quarterback, at the helm, along with Tom Foster, a hard driving 192-pound fullback, plus halfbacks Jim Stephenson and Dave Moore, a 125-pound speedster.

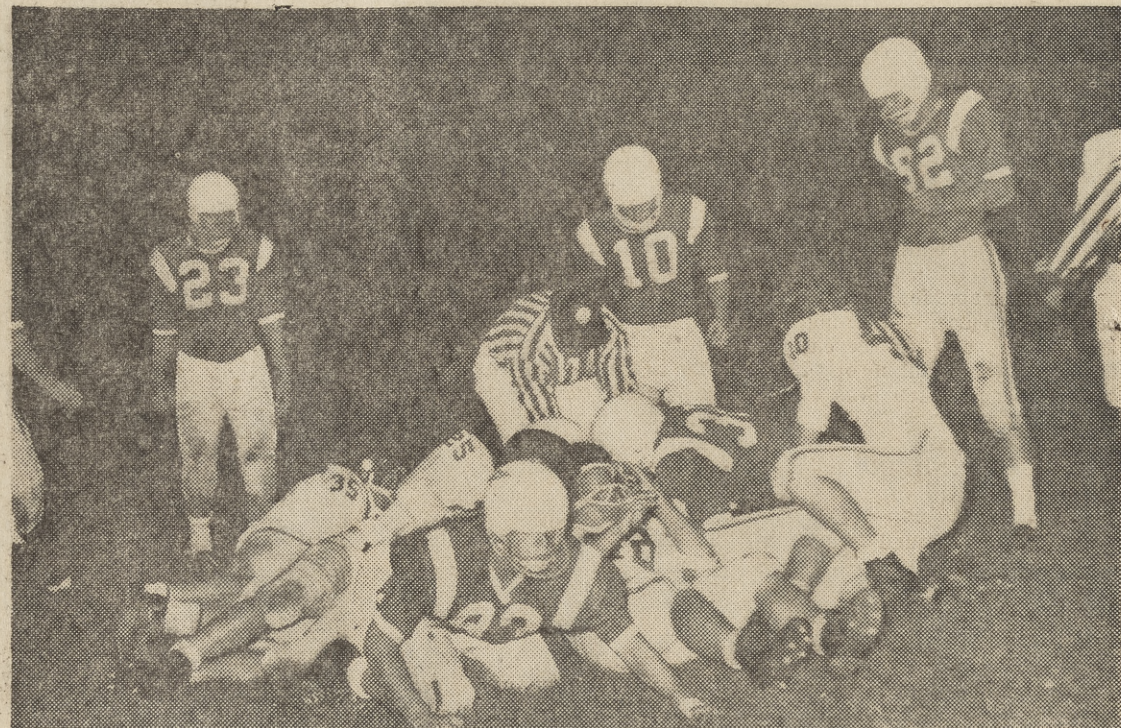

One reserve sure to see action is the Rams' Nelson Shelton, a prize sophomore quarterback who passes well and is fast—in fact, he scored the Rams' winning touchdown on a roll-out play.

Dick Dole, the six foot, six inch end who plays a good all around game, looks to be in for a good year, and presents a real problem to pass defenders.

ACALANES in turn appears to have their best balanced backfield in many a moon, with a quartet that all range from a 165 to 180 and along with it have speed to spare. Tom Strain at quarterback is a top passer while in Stew Fox, Chris Rinne and Tony LaRossa he has capable backs to hand off to. Rinne at 170 was credited with a 10 flat in the hundred this summer.

The Don line is hefty and has a pair of newcomers in Tom Gritzer at guard up from last year's J.V. and another guard in Mark Mohler, an up and coming sophomore.

Denny Toll, all league defensive tackle last year, is expected to be a stalwart in the line for the Dons.

LIGHT-SHIRTED Knights of Las Lomas managed to stave off this Pleasant Hill touchdown attempt last Friday night, but the Rams scored the game's only touchdown two plays later as they defeated the Walnut Creek squad, 6-0. Rams in the photo are Jim Stephenson (23), Lennis Cowell (10) and Dick Dole (92). The Knights who are identifiable are George Crew (35) and Mike Lee (25).

Viking Gridders Meet Comets in Opener Tonight

Diablo Valley College will play its first football game of the 1960 season tonight against its highly touted sister-institution, Contra Costa College of San Pablo.

The opening kickoff is set for 8 p.m. in the Richmond High School Stadium.

This is the first meeting of the two grid teams since the inception of the Contra Costa Junior College District 11 years ago. Contra Costa College, originally named West Contra Costa, competes in the Big Eight Conference while Diablo Valley, formerly East Contra Costa, is a member of the Coast Conference.

DIABLO VALLEY returns to the gridiron this season, following one of the most disastrous seasons in its competitive history, having lost eight of nine games played. Contra Costa's Comets had an overall seventh season and finished third in the conference.

In their initial practice contest the Vikings will be opposing a team that is rumored to have an inside chance of going all the way to the Junior Rose Bowl in Pasadena.

Although DVC had by far its largest football turnout in recent years, Contra Costa should have too many experienced lettermen to be subdued by the Viking warriors.

The Comets played a practice game last Friday night, defeating Yuba College, 20-0. The CCJC eleven showed good balance at all positions plus tremendous team speed.

THE VIKINGS scrimmaged last week against the San Quentin Pirates, and outscored them two touchdowns to one, but coach Sam DeVito was disappointed in his teams play execution.

This week the Vikings practice sessions were devoted to improving the passing attack, better play execution and getting mentally ready for an opponent that is rated a two to three touchdown favorite.

The tentative starting line up for DVC will put Mike Mayne at left end, John Arneiniga at left tackle, Ken Busch at left guard, Bruce Franz at center, Ed Miller at right guard, Steve Crafey at right tackle, Bob Gomez at right end, Wayne Re at quarterback, Harold Shanks at left halfback, Bill Davis at full-

Year-Around Training Is Not Justified for Preps

By ERWIN MATTSON

I see where one of the local papers is carrying a series of articles regarding the running of cross country and involves such things as training methods, diet and team psychology.

The articles, written by a coach of a nearby high school, have been successful as far as the running is concerned and his team is tabbed by the paper involved as being the probable national champion.

The question arises, and the discussion has been heavy on the subject, as to whether or not the means used justify the end.

Coaches by a vast majority feel that each sport should be concerned with their season and that such a season should be set by rules and regulations.

The coach concerned carries on an intensive year-around program which involves practice before school, at noon time and after school, involving running three times a day.

Such a program becomes a Spartan affair in its severity and the question arises, is it worth it? Such a program becomes drugger instead of a game, and to many, violates the very essence and purpose of high school sports.

The feeling in general is that high school is a time when a boy should get a taste of as many varieties of activities as possible. Many find this way that they have abilities they never suspected.

If each coach in each sport used the same philosophy, football, basketball, tennis, golf, swimming, wrestling and any and all other athletic programs would be carried on the year around.

Another question arises as to whether athletics are the main and sole purpose of high school, or perhaps do studies enter into it.

As one of many, I have always advocated a balanced program which encourages a boy to get a taste of a variety of sports.

Work hard, but on a reasonable basis during the season, which for the most part consists of an hour and a half workout after school, and that during the season of the sport.

Running in particular places a strain on a boy (not intended as a pun) and in a reasonable amount is good, but becomes questionable from a health and mental point when it becomes a three time a day deal or a year around program.

Such a program is unfair to the boys themselves as it deprives them of a normal school life, plus the fact it is unfair to schools that don't follow such a one-sided program.

The mystery of it all is why the D.V.A.L. doesn't pass rules and regulations in regard to the training and practicing period for fall and spring sports.

Sports have a definite place in the educational program but judgment must be used in its operation.

True, such a program produces results when others don't follow an overboard program. In the opinion of 99 per cent the end results far from justify the means of achieving it.

It's like studying any one subject morning, noon and night, and neglecting all other subjects. A balanced program to produce balanced individuals is what is needed.

To become national champs under such a program it seems would leave much to be desired as far as satisfaction is concerned. To practice year around to defeat someone who uses a seasonal program would be a hollow victory. The question becomes, is it a win or a loss? Think it over.

I would be interested in knowing how many authorities would agree with such a program.

I could be wrong, but my guess is that approval would be hard to find. So much for so little.

Veteran Johnny Franklin Upsets Speedway Leaders

By JEAN MCGUIRE

The ex-champ and almost retired gentleman from Santa Rosa, Johnny Franklin, proved to Contra Costa Speedway fans that he still has his trusty lead foot.

Franklin, driving Rod Zanaline's jet, No. 99, beat out such notables as Hugh Purdy, Chet Thomson, Nelson Snow, Lloyd Silacci and Dan Moreda Saturday.

Point leader, Leroy Geving of Petaluma, went sour in this event after showing great promise with a qualifying time of 15.74. His time was the highest of the evening.

So glad to see "Hopalong" Herb Williams of Walnut Creek back in action again. Williams chauffeured car 23 in the third heat and the main event. Herb, as you probably know, suffered a serious back injury last year at Sacramento, and is just now getting into the swing of things again.

Also returning to action at the Pacheco Oval, is Jack Clayton in the Paddock Bowl Special No. 45. Clayton has been in Anchorage, Alaska, for the past month. Welcome back Mayor!

Wally Baker of Sacramento was the winner of the semi-main event, followed by Doug Fowler of Vallejo, Steve Mentch of Oakland, Ray Travels of Oakland, and Bob Miller of Concord. Watch out for this up-and-coming Miller boy. He is the son of Ernie Miller, champion sprint car driver for three years in a row. It looks as if young Bob is listening to what dad has to say.

Winner of the final heat was Johnny Franklin, followed by Julian Castro of San Francisco, Wally Baker and Hank Alves of Oakland.

The fourth heat was won by Napa's Gene Dudley, who also won the second trophy dash. Following Dudley in the fourth was Tom Green of San Francisco, Johnny Franklin, Cliff Haynes of San Francisco and Leroy Geving.

First to the checker in the third heat was PeeWee Waybright of San Leandro, followed by Wally Baker, Hank Alves and Ted Grat-riex.

Doug Fowler won the second heat. Hot in pursuit were Ray Travels, Julian Castro and George Tietjen of Oakland.

Bob Miller, in his Gabby's Special No. 35 was the firstest with the mostest in the initial heat. He was trailed by Roland Loknor of Concord, Austin Phillips of Oakland and Don Lundberg of Santa Rosa.

Winner of the trophy dash for the four fastest qualifiers, was Johnny Franklin. Following him to the flag were Nelson Snow of San Pablo and Leroy Geving.

Next week's program will carry a 25-lap main event. Time trials will start at 7:30, first race at 8:30 p.m.

Morehouse Wins Santa Rosa Race

Brett Morehouse of 8 Hillview Terrace, Walnut Creek, added another trophy to his collection Sunday at Sports Car Club of America races near Santa Rosa.

Morehouse, driving an Austin-Healey 3000, beat the second place car by 19 seconds in the 26 lap, 50 mile event. Twenty-five cars finished the race.

Morehouse took a first at last month's Cotati races, too.

County's Newest Golf Club Nears Opening

Contract Awarded for Round Hill Clubhouse

Negotiations were completed this week for construction of a deluxe $450,000 clubhouse at the new Round Hill Country Club, in Alamo, according to Harlan Geldermann, president of Round Hill Enterprises and developer of the exclusive country club facility.

The contract for construction of the clubhouse, swimming pool and other deluxe recreational facilities, which will occupy 23,000 square feet of space, was awarded to the Peter O. Mattei Construction Company.

PAUL OPPENHEIM, manager of the firm, will direct and supervise the project. Actual construction will get underway within the next few days, and it is anticipated that the finished project, which reportedly will be the most modern and up-to-date country clubhouse facility in Northern California, will be completed early in 1961.

Designed by William F. Cody, internationally known architect (A.I.A.), who created the buildings and facilities for such outstanding country clubs as Thunderbird, El Dorado, Tamarisk, DeAnza and many others, the clubhouse, junior olympic-type swimming pool and other recreational facilities have been carefully engineered and designed for maximum efficiency and minimum upkeep cost.

John Sparrowk, president of Round Hill Country Club, stated that the buildings, of contemporary design, will be located on a knoll, overlooking a picturesque lake, and lush, green fairways.

A REFLECTION pond and huge stone fireplace are but a few of the beautiful appointments to be included in the fully carpeted bar and lounge area. The dining room will have two verandas, one overlooking the lake and swimming pool, and the other with a picture window view of the fairways.

The outdoor recreation area provides for a snack bar and cabana poolside dressing areas, a separate wading pool for children, a nearby putting green and a large size practice fairway.

A large and completely modern pro shop is located in the building, and an architecturally compatible storage facility for 50 electric carts is adjacent to the first and tenth tees, but a short distance from the clubhouse.

A CONTRACT for construction of a club house, swimming pool and other deluxe recreational facilities at the exclusive Round Hill Country Club, in Alamo, was consummated this week at a special ceremony held in the office of Geldermann Realtors in Danville. Looking over an artist's interpretation of the finished project, designed by William F. Cody (A.I.A.), internationally known country club architect, are (standing left to right) John Sparrowk, president of the club; Paul Oppenheim, manager, Peter Mattei Construction Company, Peter Mattei and (seated) Harlan Geldermann, developer and president of Round Hill Enterprises.

Professor Apologizes For Poor Initial Showing

BY SOSS OPPLÉ

Soss Opplé predicts that the picks this week will be better or there will be a new crystal ball in the offing with the old one being put into orbit.

The season is early and in all fairness the crystal ball should be given time to warm up.

Here are some tip top selections:

Miramonte has backfield problems but will play better than most suspect in their game at Mt. Diablo High with Pacifica, but will fall short in the score column, 20-6.

Piedmont High will unload on Washington High of San Francisco and the final count will be 33-6.

The Alhambra High Bulldogs will serve notice they are ready as they chew up the John Sweet Indians, 26-0.

Mt. Diablo will produce win number two as their speed will outscore the Las Lomas Knights, 20-7.

Del Valle will cop a 13-7 win over the California School for the Deaf.

Pleasant Hill plays at Acalanes and will be an acid test for the pennant aspiring Dons. Tab the Dons here to win, 13-7, after a stubborn battle.

The aMorinda Thunderbirds are inexperienced and will take time to develop. Their playing is spotty but will smooth out as the season advances and experience is gained. They lose this Sunday when they play at Miramonte High. The score: 13-6.

The Pioneers of Pleasant Hill, another Pop Warner entry in their second year of play, win by a 20-14 score.

In college circles it looks more and more as if Cal is going Ivy League—particularly as far as football is concerned. They certainly didn't overemphasize the sport last week when they failed in five tries from the two yard line. They play Notre Dame this week where they stress rock and sock 'em ball. It's Notre Dame, 26-7. Perhaps the Berkeley Cyclotron can figure out the answer.

Southern California pulled a surprise last week in reverse when they were toppled by Oregon State. They have the horses, perhaps too many, and that in itself creates morale problems. Tab the Trojans in a comeback over T.C.U., 33-0.

Stanford faces Wisconsin and in the papers will have played a good spirited game while losing, 20-14.

San Jose State finds one they can beat in Brigham Young from up Utah way, the score, 13-0.

Washington, the coast's best, has a scrimmage as they rack up Idaho, 38-0.

U.C.L.A. proves to be a comer as they drop Purdue, 20-14.

Washington State taps Denver for a 21-7 win.

Highlanders Face San Franciscans In Game Tonight

George Washington of San Francisco comes across the Bay Bridge tonight to test the mettle of the Piedmont Highlanders who, as defending champion of the Foothill League, are eager to go and chafing at the bit.

The Washington crew are listed as pretty much of an unknown quantity except for the fact they have some fast backs off the basis of their track performance.

Running in track is one thing and running with a football under the arm is another.

PIEDMONT HAS a heavy team loaded with experience and proven ability.

George Conn made all-league as a lineman last year and this year was tried at fullback but moved back to guard for the opener.

The Clan appears to be well set in the backfield, with the only possible problem at fullback where sophomore Jay Knowland and senior Jim Hall are fighting it out for the starting spot.

Bob Jones, an all-league selection two years as fullback, has drawn high praise from coach Bob Muenster, who says he could be his best back ever.

JOHN PEPPER at half was the circuit's top scorer last season and is a key backfield performer. A pair of senior backs up from the junior varsity who have looked good are Tom Rowley and Steve Ganison. Junior quarterback Steve Hogan saw action last year as a sophomore and is reported to have come into his own this year.

Rams Down Knights in Big Opener

The Pleasant Hill Rams won a hard fought 6-0 victory over the Las Lomas Knights in the season's opener at Pleasant Hill Friday night.

The Rams threatened several times in the first half before hitting the game's winning touchdown—just before the half ended.

Prior to the touchdown the Rams put on a drive that brought them to the two yard line on a short pass from Archie Allison to big end Dick Dole. Fullback Tom Foster cracking up the middle lost the pigskin in the process and the Knights recovered to end the threat momentarily.

THREE RUNNING plays failed to produce the necessary 10 yards for the Knights and on fourth down they punted to the 47 and the Rams brought the ball back to the 25.

Nelson Shelton, a promising sophomore quarterback, engineered the drive with a key pass to Terry Hughes, who brought the ball to the 12 yard line.

Shelton scored when he carried the ball on a rollout to the right and it proved to be the game's only score and with it went the win. The conversion kick missed when it failed to gain the necessary distance.

LAS LOMAS threatened a comeback in the third quarter when they drove and passed deep into Ram territory only to fall short on a pass interception which gave the Rams ball and game control.

Statistics gave the Rams the edge in every department with 251 yards to 211 on the ground, 108 to 51 via the air lanes.

Diablo Valley Harriers

Win Opener at Modesto

The Diablo Valley College cross country team opened what appears to be another successful season Tuesday afternoon by defeating Modesto Junior College at Modesto.

Four out of the top five places in the three-mile event were won by Viking harriers. The meet was won by Larry Pavilonis, formerly of Mt. Diablo High, with a time of 17:17.

The Vikings, who have never finished worse than second in Coast Conference competition, open their home season with a three-way, three mile meet Wednesday against Sierra College and San Francisco City College.

Coach Gay Bryan said, "We have a good chance of coping the championship this year if we live up to early season expectations."

Final results of the Modesto meet were as follows, for the first five positions: Pavilonis, DVC; Roger Dietsch of San Ramon, DVC, 17:52; Jim Ali, Modesto, 18:18; Mike Brodie of Pleasant Hill, DVC, 18:45; and Tony Contreras, DVC, 19:23.

Pressure for High Grades Can Cause Cheating

Editor's note: This article is another in a series written by John Corey sponsored and distributed by Phi Delta Kappa, Professional Fraternity in Education.

Do you force your child to cheat in school?

Many parents militantly demand that Junior bring home top grades. At the same time they may permit and even encourage numerous side interests—school band, athletics, Boy Scouting, clubs, TV viewing.

For most youngsters, high marks require considerable outside study. Even the brighter ones find there's not enough time for this and extra activities, too.

TO RELIEVE parental pressure and at the same time continue other activities they consider important and valuable, many students copy each other's homework and exchange information during tests—in short, cheat for the marks mom and pop require.

"Cribbing is prevalent in schools throughout the country and most children have been guilty at one time or another," warns Dr. Herbert Wey, education professor at the University of Miami in Florida. A team of Cornell sociologists checked with students in ten universities on this question. The results? "Nearly two-fifths of the students we polled admitted having cheated in college. And this estimate is almost certainly understated."

IRONICALLY, most of the cheating is done not by slower pupils trying to pass, but by brighter ones gunning for A's and B's, says Dr. Wey, a high school principal for ten years before becoming a college professor.

He mentions these causes: Parents, especially those on higher social and economic levels, pressure their youngsters for high marks.

Students indulge excessively in non-academic activities. It's difficult for a football player, for example, to practice hard each afternoon, get needed rest, make out-of-town trips, undergo game-time anxieties, and at the same time keep up to snuff in studies.

THE INFAMOUS West Point cribbing scandal illustrates the point. The Army academy, well-known for emphasis on honor, discovered its star footballers off-side in the classroom.

Students realize that scholarship awards and college entrance are largely based on high school grades. Several B's rather than A's can make the difference between a scholarship plum and no scholarship at all. Or whether one attends the college of his choice.

Most schools require pupils to maintain certain marks in order to participate in sports or remain eligible for office in certain student organizations.

Youngsters may feel that much subject matter they are forced to study is outdated and not really worth the effort. Cheating is their way of rebelling against over-emphasis on meaningless facts, contends Dr. Wey.

PUPILS' moral values are confused by bad adult examples, such as widespread tax evasion. The youngsters hear businessmen say "business is business" when fleecing a buyer or green competitor. They sense that many adults consider cheating itself not so bad; getting caught is the real sin.

Dr. Wey would try these remedies:

Parents should help their children work out a program of extra activities which will allow them time enough to do their best in studies without undue strain.

They should assume more responsibility for setting good examples; they must stress moral values and "right" attitudes at home.

SCHOOL officials can also improve. They should make cheating a serious offense, perhaps stripping guilty students of honors and dismissing them from athletic teams and school clubs.

They should report all instances of cheating to parents. Schools sometimes try to iron out these problems without consulting parents, whose cooperation is crucial.

Classroom control and supervision can be tightened, reducing

DeRosa Will Be March of Dimes Director for '60

Joseph DeRosa, Concord postmaster, has been appointed director of the 1961 New March of Dimes for Contra Costa County. The appointment was made by George Ely, chairman of the county chapter of the National Foundation.

"The people of Contra Costa County, through their magnificent support of the March of Dimes for more than 20 years, have contributed to a great research program that resulted in the Salk vaccine and the recently approved Sabin oral vaccine," the new campaign director declared.

"Already a substantial beginning has been made in the expanded program of seeking to prevent birth defects and arthritis. The 1961 New March of Dimes offers an opportunity for all of us to be a part of the work aimed at the prevention of these great crippling afflictions that afflict so many millions of Americans," he said.

"I am confident that the people of this county will continue to fight for better health for themselves and their children through the New March of Dimes, both as volunteer workers and through their contributions."

DeRosa, former exalted ruler of both the Concord and Pittsburg Lodges of Elks and past president of the Concord-Mt. Diablo Trail Riders' Association.

opportunity for cheating. At the same time, self-control and integrity must be encouraged. (Harvard and Yale have little cheating. The fact has been attributed to the "college system," where students live in small, tightly knit, almost independent dwellings and build up a strong esprit-de-corps. The student is ashamed to cheat.)

Dog Training Club Gives Plaques

The Mt. Diablo Dog Training Club presented plaques to each club member who had earned a degree handling their dogs in AKC licensed obedience trials.

Mrs. Charles Nelson, awards chairman, congratulated each recipient. The award plaque is a brass engraved plate mounted upon a walnut wood shield, embossed with the official Mt. Diablo Dog Training Club silver emblem.

Members receiving the C.D. (Companion Degree) plaques were Mrs. Chuck Alleman with "Gina"; Miss Stacey Lee Davis, age 6, with "Suzette"; Mrs. Robert McCarthy with "Kurt"; Robert McCarthy with "Max"; Mr. and Mrs. Clark Hood with "Mimi".

Mrs. Henry Cabral with "Kiko" and Mrs. Warren Ronneberg with "King".

C.D.X. (Companion Dog Excellent) plaques were awarded to Dr. Carl Mills with "Jet" and Miss Helen Vollmer with "Jettie". U.D. (Utility Degree) the most difficult title to earn, was presented to Mrs. Florence Fox with "Crickett".

Dr. Carl A. Mills, club president, welcomed six new members into the club's roster. They are Messrs. and Mesdames Jerry Emanuelson, Ray Gossom and Michael Tarkington.

Pedestrian Hurt in WC Accident

Theodore Schalesky, 90, of 1910 North Main Street. Schalesky, who is known for his ability to walk long distances, was hit by a car driven by Joe Silvestri of 2188 Hillside Drive, Walnut Creek. No citation has been issued. Walnut Creek police officers said at first he was not expected to live, and therefore was a candidate for being Walnut Creek's first pedestrian fatality in several years.

Abandoned Children Have 'Contact' With World

Contra Costa Juvenile Hall on the Arnold Industrial Highway is a familiar sight to many people, but few realize how many human beings spend a part of their lives in this big building, said Mrs. Russel Harmon, Juvenile Hall Auxiliary publicity chairman.

An average of 2000 boys and girls are admitted to Juvenile Hall each year, she said.

Some stay only a few hours, others stay as long as a year.

THESE BOYS and girls, ranging in age from two to 17, come to the hall for many reasons. Some because they are in trouble with the law, others through no fault of their own.

"Contra Costa County has no orphanages in the old sense of the word," she added. "But even though an enlightened society can do away with these institutions, we still have homeless children."

"These orphans and children that are taken from unfit homes are taken to Juvenile Hall to a section called the cottage," Mrs. Harmon continued.

Juvenile Hall is divided into four sections—two for delinquent boys, one for delinquent girls, and one for the abandoned children.

State law requires that the delinquent children have no contact with the cottage children, therefore, even though they are under the same roof, locked doors separate the sections.

AS SOON as the abandoned children enter the hall they become wards of the court.

Some are placed with relatives who care for them.

Others are fostered by responsible families. The children who are placed in foster homes receive financial assistance from county funds.

Mrs. Harmon said, "When these children arrive at the hall they have experienced a severe emotional shock."

"EVEN THOUGH they may have come from an unfit home, with sordid living conditions, it is the only home they know."

"Though their stay at the hall may be short, it is a crucial period in their lives. These children are ably cared for by the county probation department. They have trained personnel to help these children adjust to a new and frightening world."

"Since these children stay in the hall only a short time, how comforting it would be to know that someone outside the hall knew they were there and cared what happens to them. All of us need the feeling that somebody cares."

Mrs. Harmon continued, "The Juvenile Hall Auxiliary can be your contact with these abandoned children."

"Formed and incorporated in 1955, the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary is a community sponsored, non-profit organization."

STATE OF CALIFORNIA
DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC WORKS—DIVISION OF HIGHWAYS
NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of the State Highway Engineer, Room 510, Public Works Building, Sacramento, California, until 2 o'clock p.m. on Thursday, October 13, 1960, at which time they will be publicly opened and read in the Assembly Room of said building, for construction on State highway in accordance with the specifications therefor, to which special reference is made, as follows:

Contra Costa County, in the Community of Orinda, on Camino Pablo at the intersections of the Freeway off-ramps (IV-C-C-75-A), channelization to be constructed and traffic signal and highway lighting to be furnished and installed.

Bids are required for the entire work described herein.

Plans, specifications, and proposal forms to be used for bidding on this project can only be obtained at the office of the State Highway Engineer, Public Works Building, Sacramento, California.

Plans and specifications may be seen at the offices of the District Highway Engineers at Sacramento, and at the office of the District Engineer of the district in which the work is situated.

No bid will be considered unless it is made on a blank form furnished by the State Highway Engineer and is made in accordance with the provisions of the Standard Specifications and Special provisions. Each bidder must be licensed and also prequalified as required by law.

The Department of Public Works reserves the right to reject any or all bids.

Mollie Poupeney Oils on Display

Oils by Mollie Poupeney are being shown for the month of September at the Orinda Library, under the sponsorship of the Orinda Art Center.

Mrs. Poupeney is an Orinda resident, a housewife and mother of three children. She studied art at Oregon State College, and has been a student of the well-known artists Jonathan Batchelor and Robert Rishell.

Previously the artist's canvasses have been shown a Jack London Square, Crocker Gallery, Sacramento State Fair and the Madonna Festival in Los Angeles.

Camp Fire and Blue Bird Girls To Be Trained

The dates for the area Camp Fire and Blue Bird leaders training sessions have been announced.

Basic and advance training sessions will be offered to new and experienced Camp Fire leaders. There will also be a short training period at the monthly leaders' association meetings in addition to advance work shops throughout the year.

Mrs. Lorna Barber is training chairman.

All sessions are from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. at the Walnut Creek Presbyterian Church.

Parents Planning Welcome Tues.

The poolside gardens of the Paul Handley home, 13 Virginia Road, will be the scene of the welcome tea for the Glorietta School Parents, Tuesday from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m.

Mrs. Wendell Trower is the tea chairman. Assisting her will be Mrs. Herbert Bacon, hospitality; Mrs. Joel Lee, refreshments, and Mrs. Raymond Seidel, decorations.

Mrs. Gordon Ault, the Parents Club president, extends a cordial invitation to all Glorietta parents and teachers to attend and take advantage of this opportunity to become acquainted.

Local Residents Are Recipients Of Stanford Honor

Four Orindans are among the 389 students at Stanford University who received undergraduate honors for high scholastic standing in their 1959-60 academic records, President Wallace Sterling announced this week.

They are Bette and Conrad Ambler, children of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Ambler, Jr., 220 El Toyonal; Susan C. Flint, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Flint, 14 Scenic Court, and Thomas S.

James Rhoades Attends Tarkio

James Rhoades, 357 Glorietta Boulevard, Orinda, has enrolled as a freshman at Tarkio College, Missouri.

Classes began September 9.

Mika, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Francis Mika, 10 Meadow Park court.

The list includes 214 men and 175 women who maintained a grade-point ratio of 3.5 or higher for the fall, winter and spring quarters of the academic year. A ratio of 4.0 is equivalent to a grade and 3.0 is a B.

Hide-A-Bed Not Hidden,

Mrs. S. W. Bray of 3063 Putnam Boulevard, Walnut Creek, sold her hide-a-bed for $150 with the first call in reply to the want ad she placed in The Sun.

She told The Sun want ad girl: "I know I will have many more calls before the day is over. I always get excellent results with The Sun."

Mrs. W. H. Banks of 800 Mariposa Road, Lafayette, sold her double bed with springs and mattress to the first caller.

These are only two of the hundreds of Sun "Success stories" which result each week, due to the "5-in-1" coverage provided Sun want ads.

Ambassadors Club Readies 'Little Iodine' Dragster

"Little Iodine," a gasoline-powered Chevrolet engine dragster, is currently making records on Bay Area drag strips.

Raced by the Ambassadors of Orinda, the funds for the machine were earned by dues, poker runs and car wash projects.

A speed of 152 miles per hour was turned on Fremont Drag Strip recently, and the young racers hope to repeat the record on a single run, to go on to the National 1320 records.

ABOUT 18 members belong to the Ambassadors of Orinda, ranging in age from 16 to 25. Club members race a variety of cars including stock models and three dragsters, a competition roadster and a competition sedan.

"Little Iodine" is driven by past president Tom "Featherfoot" Trefethen, Lafayette. Members meet each Tuesday and will gather nightly, to work on keeping the dragster in top condition.

According to Gary Sutton, vice president, of Piedmont, the chassis for the speedster was designed and built by Dick Williams, Oakland, and is said by Fremont Drag Strip safety officials to be the "safest possible" racer.

The partnership between Williams and the Ambassadors was formed to enable the club to have a chassis to mount a 274-inch Chevy engine with a GMC blower and gives Williams "Little Iodine" a very good chance at winning a coveted National 1320 record.

STARTING WITH the 1955 engine, which cost $50, the project required many hours of work before it could be tried out on a track. Machine work and balancing was done by Vulcan Grinding's Walt Herbert of Oakland.

Following each Sunday "Little Iodine" races, Ambassador members pull and check the engine to maintain it in top condition for the next competition.

While Tom is currently the only driver of the dragster, all members will have an opportunity to pilot the speedster when members feel it has reached full potential and can rest on its laurels.

An indication of the confidence club members had in their handiwork was the installation of a parachute as a braking aid; a requirement at Fremont Drag Strip for all machines capable of speeds over 140 mph.

CHASSIS BUILDER Williams says that the young racers can take the dragster up to 180-plus, since the frame is constructed to stand up to any speed. Gary admitted that the Ambassadors hope to hit 150 mph with no modifications. When they reach that mark, then they will work on obtaining a still higher speed.
